CLEMSON TIGER FOOTBALL

Altroy Bodrick 7

After tearing his ACL in a scrimmage on Aug. 18, linebacker Altroy Bodrick will sit this season out before returning for his final season in 2002. "It is disappointing because I was really looking forward to this season," Bodrick said. "I will just do what I can to help the team from the sidelines this year and work on rehab for next year."

Travis Zachery 14

Tailback Travis Zachery has 39 career touchdowns and is already the schools career leader in the category. He is looking to improve on his 2000 totals when he rushed for 1,027 yards and scored a single season record 18 touchdowns. The Doak Walker Candidate is only 18 yards shy of 2,500 yards for his career.

Matt Bailey 49

Wide receiver Matt Bailey, one of seven Clemson graduate students on this year's roster, is a veteran of 26 games, seven as a starter. Bailey, who shined in the game at Virginia last year with 64 yards on four catches to lead all receivers, will provide valuable veteran leadership among Clemson's corp of young receivers.

Anthony Simmons 64

Last season was a breakout campaign for Anthony Simmons. He led the Seattle Seahawks in tackles with 147. Simmons, a three-time AP All-American while at Clemson, needs another semester and a summer to complete his degree. "I made a promise to my parents that I would come back and get my degree from Clemson," Simmons said.

1951 Season 118

Not only did the 1951 team finish the season ranked among the top-20 teams in the nation, but it ended the year in the Gator Bowl, quite an accomplishment in those days considering there were only five bowl games played. It was a team that established records on an individual and team basis that still stand 50 years later.

Rod Gardner 120

Rod Gardner achieved a rare triple as a senior. He became just the sixth football player in Clemson history to earn All-America honors on the field, be selected in the first round of the NFL draft and earn an undergraduate degree. In the same year, Sid Tim Bourret looks back at Gardner's Clemson career in Today's Last Word.

Today's Game

The UCF Golden Knights

Central Florida is one of the rising programs of college football. In 1978, they did not even have a football team. By 1998 they had posted a 9-2 record and boasted one of the top players in college football in Daunte Culpepper, now the starting quarterback for the Minnesota Vikings.

Central Florida started its program in 1979 at the Division III level. In 1982 they moved to Division II, then became Division I-AA in 1990. They have been a Division I-A school since the 1996 season. Last season they achieved a landmark victory by winning at Alabama on the Crimson Tide's homecoming. Earlier in the year they nearly won at Georgia Tech, before suffering a 21-17 loss.

UCF is one of the few independent schools in the nation. It allows them to play a diverse schedule. In 2001, the Golden Knights might be the only team in the nation to play a team from the ACC, the Big East and the SEC. Overall, six different conferences are represented on their 2001 schedule.

UCF Coach Mike Kruczek

Mike Kruczek is in his fourth year as head coach at Central Florida, but his 17th season with the program overall. He served as offensive coordinator for the Golden Knights from 1985-97, so he has been affiliated with the school for 16 of the program's previous 22 seasons.

Kruczek has quite a resume as a player and a coach. He was the starting quarterback for Boston College between 1973-75 and is a member of the school's athletic Hall of Fame. He was a second round draft choice of the Pittsburgh Steelers in 1976. The first round pick for the Steelers that year was former Clemson All-American Bennie Cunningham.

Kruczek played six years in the NFL, five with Pittsburgh and one with the Washington Redskins. He was a member of two Super Bowl Championship teams (1978 and 1979 seasons) along with Cunningham in Pittsburgh. In his rookie season (1976), he stepped in for an injured Terry Bradshaw and led the Steelers to seven consecutive wins. He completed 60 percent of his passes over his NFL career.

Kruczek began his coaching career under Bobby Bowden at Florida State in 1982. After two years at Florida State and one year as quarterback coach of the Jacksonville Bulls of the now defunct USFL, he moved to Central Florida. In 1998 he became the head coach developed quarterback Daunte Culpepper into a first-round draft choice.

Common Coaches

Clemson wide receivers coach and recruiting coordinator Rick Stockstill came to Clemson in 1989 after serving at Central Florida as wide receivers coach from 1985-88. In those four years at UCF he coached among others, Shawn Jefferson, who went on to a long NFL career with the New England Patriots.

The offensive coordinator on that UCF staff from 1985-88 was current Golden Knights head coach Mike Kruczek. Kruczek also coached with current Clemson head coach Tommy Bowden at Florida State in 1982. That was Kruczek's first fulltime college coaching job, just two years removed from the end of his NFL career. Florida State finished the season with a 9-3 record, a berth in the Gator Bowl and a #13 final AP ranking.

Two current fulltime coaches on the UCF staff were once graduate assistants at Clemson. UCF secondary coach Gene Chizik and offensive line coach Robert McFarland were both graduate assistant coaches at Clemson for the 1988 and 1989 seasons under Danny Ford. The Tigers were 10-2 in both seasons, ending each year with a bowl victory.

UCF Athletic Director Had Impact on Bowden's Career

Central Florida Athletic Director Steve Sloan had a positive impact on the coaching career of Clemson Head Coach Tommy Bowden. In 1983, Sloan, then the head coach at Duke, hired Bowden as his offensive coordinator. It was Bowden's first job as a coordinator and the experience certainly enhanced Bowden's career. In their first year together, Ben Bennett led the Duke offense to a record setting season.

One of their most productive performances came against Clemson, a 38-31 Tiger win in which Bowden's offense gained 508 yards, including 367 passing. James Robinson had to deflect a fourth-down pass from the Clemson nine-yard-line to preserve the win. The Tigers posted a 9-1-1 record that year.

Bowden coached under Sloan for four seasons, before both moved to Alabama. Bowden became an assistant coach on Bill Curry's staff and Sloan became the Alabama Athletic Director. Sloan has been the AD at Central Florida since 1993.

Hiring Bowden Means Improvement

We are yet to find a coach in NCAA Division I-A history who has accomplished what Tommy Bowden has done in his first four years as a head coach. In each of his first four seasons he has seen his team make at least a three-victory improvement over the previous year. In 1997 he took over a Tulane program that had been 4-7 the year prior to his hiring, and he brought the program to a 7-4 season. The following year he took Tulane to a perfect 11-0 campaign in the regular season.

In 1999 he took over a Clemson team that had been 3-8 in 1998 and took the Tigers to six wins and a Peach Bowl bid. Last year there was another three-win improvement, as Clemson finished the year 9-3 and ranked 14th in the final ESPN/USA Today Coaches Poll.

As far as Clemson history is concerned, the only previous coaches to take the Tigers to a three-win improvement in consecutive years are Josh Cody (1927 and 1928) and Charley Pell (1977 and 1978). No one in Clemson history has done it three straight years. Bowden and UNLV Head Coach John Robinson are the only coaches in the nation to take a team to a three-win improvement each of the last two years.

Bowden can stand alone in one area if he takes the Tigers to a bowl game this year. No Clemson coach as led the Tigers to a bowl game in each of his first three years with the Tigers.

Battle of Productive Quarterbacks

Clemson's season opener promises to be quite a matchup of outstanding quarterbacks. Clemson's Woodrow Dantzler (22nd) and Central Florida's Ryan Schneider (9th) both ranked in the top 25 in the nation in passing efficiency in 2000. Dantzler completed 56 percent of his passes for 1,871 yards and 11 scores. Schneider completed 62 percent of his passes for 2,334 yards and 21 scores. Dantzler is the more mobile of the two, as he rushed for 1,028 yards, while Schneider had - 88 on the ground.

Schneider did not enter the lineup until the third game, replacing former South Carolina quarterback Vic Penn, who was injured early in the 2000 season. Schneider started the last seven games of the year and took the Golden Knights to a 5-2 record. He passed for at least 250 yards in all seven of his starts. He threw for 283 yards and three touchdowns at Alabama last year.

Dantzler's bid to become the first quarterback in NCAA history to reach 1,000 yards rushing and 2,000 yards passing in the same season hit a snag at North Carolina on Oct. 21 last year when was forced out of the game with an injury. He had just 283 yards of total offense over the next three games. Prior to the injury, Dantzler was averaging 300 yards of total offense per game.

But, Dantzler finished strong against South Carolina. With two weeks to rest, he had 80 yards rushing and 185 yards passing in the 16-14 win over the Gamecocks. He added 261 yards of total offense in the Gator Bowl against Virginia Tech. It brought him to 2,899 yards of total offense for the season, an all-time Clemson record.

Despite the injuries, Dantzler nearly reached the 1,000/2,000 season. He reached 1,028 yards rushing and added 1,871 passing for the 12 games. With the injuries and blowout games he only played a little over nine games in 2000.

Even though Dantzler has started just 18 games at quarterback in his Clemson career, he is already fourth in school history in total offense. He has 5,159 yards for his career. He went over the 5,000 yards mark against Virginia Tech in the Gator Bowl. Next on the horizon is Rodney Williams, Clemson's winningest quarterback in history, who had 5,510. Dantzler has played 27 games in his career and now averages a school record 191 yards per game in total offense for his career.

Woodrow Dantzler needs just 38 yards rushing to break Steve Fuller's quarterback rushing record.

Today's Game

Dantzler needs 1,628 yards of total offense in 2001 to become Clemson's career leader. Nealon Greene had 6,786 for his four-year career between 1994-97. Dantzler needs just 38 yards rushing against Central Florida to become Clemson's career rushing leader by a quarterback. He is also expected to break the ACC record for that category this year.

Zachery Needs 18 Yards for 2,500

For the second straight year, Travis Zachery opens the regular season having to prove himself after suffering a painful injury in a bowl game. The Doak Walker Award candidate suffered a broken ankle on a 23-yard scoring reception from Woodrow Dantzler in the Gator Bowl against Virginia Tech and that kept him out of the rest of the game and spring practice.

But, he is back to full strength looking to improve on his 2000 totals when he rushed for 1,027 yards and scored a single season record 18 touchdowns. He had scored 16 touchdowns in 1999. For his career, he already has the Clemson record with 39 scores. He has 34 touchdowns in 24 games over the last two years.

Zachery enters this season with 2,482 career rushing yards, fifth best in school history. He obviously needs just 18 yards to reach 2,500 for his career. The greatest receiving running back in Clemson history, he has a record 60 career catches for 643 yards. He has 3,401 all-purpose running yards in his career, best in school history.

Zachery probably won't catch Raymond Priestner when it comes to the career rushing record (he needs 1,484), but he will have a good chance to catch Priestner in all-purpose yards. Priestner had 4,282 all-purpose yards (rushing, receiving and kick returns combined), just 881 yards ahead of Zachery. Zachery has had at least 997 all-purpose yards in each of his first three years at Clemson.

Young Looks for Landmark Accomplishment

Clemson center Kyle Young has been named a first-team Academic All-American each of the last two years. If he is chosen for a third time at the end of the 2001 season he will become just the second offensive lineman in college football history to be chosen a first-team Academic All-American in three different seasons. He would also become just the second ACC player in history to be chosen three times.

The College Sports Information Directors of America have chosen the academic All-America team every year since 1952, so the 2001 team will be the 50th team selected. Players chosen to the team must have at least a 3.20 cumulative GPA. Young had a 3.98 career GPA and graduated in May, Summa Cum Laude.

Kyle Young is seeking a third first-team academic All-American honor, something only one other offensive lineman in college football history has accomplished.

Young will try to join former Colorado offensive lineman Jim Hansen as the only three-time first-team selections. Hansen was named in 1990, 1991 and 1992. The only other ACC player to be a three-time first-team selection, regardless of position, is Mike Diminick, a defensive back from Duke, who was named first team in 1986, 1987 and 1988.

Overall, 12 different football players have been named first-team academic All-American three times. Clemson's Kyle Young will attempt to join that group in 2001.

Clemson Has Strong Freshman Class

Clemson's recruiting class for the 2001 season was among the best in the nation according to many who rate recruiting classes. That group could have an immediate impact on the Tigers, especially at wide receiver, defensive line and the secondary.

It is a rarity for a first-year freshman to step right in and start in a non-special teams role. The last "true freshman" to start the season opener was Anthony Simmons, at linebacker for the first game of the 1995 season. He is now starting for the Seattle Seahawks. The last offensive first-year freshman to start the season opener was Anthony Downs, at tailback for the first game of the 1994 season.

Only 10 first-year freshmen have started the season opener since freshmen became eligible for the 1972 season. Here is a list of all first-year freshmen to start the season opener since that season:

- 1973: Ken Callicutt (TB), Nelson Wallace (DT)
- 1974: Jeff Mills (DT)
- 1980: Jeff Wells (TE), James Farr (C)
- 1987: John Johnson (LB)
- 1988: Chris Gardocki (PK)
- 1994: Anthony Downs (TB)
- 1995: Anthony Simmons (LB)
- 2000: Aaron Hunt (PK)

Clemson in the Preseason Polls

Clemson is ranked 19th in the preseason Associated Press poll. This is the 18th time since 1936 that Clemson has been ranked in the preseason top 25 of that poll. This is the second straight year Clemson has been in the preseason top 20, as the Tigers were 17th in last year's preseason poll. The Tigers improved on that by finishing 16th in the final AP poll. Clemson was 14th in the final USA Today poll for the 2000 season.

Clemson was 18th in the preseason USA Today/ESPN Coach's poll. As far as other preseason polls are concerned, The Tigers have been ranked 20th by Sports Illustrated, 13th by ESPN the Magazine and 18th by The Sporting News.

Clemson's highest preseason ranking in the history of the AP poll is a number-four ranking. Clemson had that lofty ranking in 1988 and 1984. The 1988 team finished 10-2 and ranked ninth in the final poll. The 1984 team finished 7-4 and was not ranked in the final AP poll. That team led by William Perry and Mike Eppley did finish 20th in the final New York Times computer ranking.

The preseason poll is not always an indication of future success or failure for the Tigers, although it was last season. The previous three seasons Clemson was ranked in the preseason top 25 it failed to finish in the top 25. The 1993 season was the last time prior to 2000 that Clemson was ranked in the preseason and the postseason poll in the same year.

Last year was the 11th time Clemson was ranked in the Associated Press preseason poll and finished the season in the top 25. That includes a streak of five straight years between 1987-91. There have been nine seasons in which Clemson was unranked in the preseason poll, then finished the season ranked in the top 20. That includes the 1981 season when Clemson was unranked in August, then won the National Championship in January. The last time Clemson went from unranked in the preseason to a final top 25 ranking was 1986 when Clemson finished 17th after an 8-2-2 season.

Of the 17 times that Clemson has been ranked in the preseason poll prior to this year, Clemson has finished higher than the preseason ranking just five times (1958, 1978, 1982, 1990 and 2000). In one season, 1989, Clemson had the same preseason and final ranking.

Clemson in Openers

Clemson has won 14 of its last 17 season openers. The only opening losses since 1983 took place in 1986 at Clemson when Virginia Tech and Coach Bill Dooley upset the Tigers, 20-14, at North Carolina in Chapel Hill in 1996 and in 1999 at home against Marshall. That 1986 game with Virginia Tech was a battle of eventual bowl teams, as the Tigers ended the year 8-2-2 and ranked 17th in the nation, while Virginia Tech was 9-2-1 and ranked 20th in the final poll. The 1999 13-10 loss to Marshall was also a battle of bowl teams.

Even though this is the 106th season of Clemson football, Clemson has had just 100 home openers in its history because five seasons Clemson did not play a game at home. In the 100 home openers Clemson has a 76-16-8 record against 27 different opponents. Clemson has nearly an identical record in terms of the first game of the season. The Tigers are 78-19-8, regardless of site, in their first game of the season.

Clemson Opening Day Records

Two current Clemson players own opening day records in Clemson history, and both were set last year against The Citadel. Quarterback Woodrow Dantzler completed 16-17 passes for 192 yards and three touchdowns in that 2000 opener. He set the Clemson overall record (not just opening day) for completion percentage and efficiency rating in a single game. Dantzler has always gotten his season off to a good start. For the three season openers he has played in his career he is 21-24 passing for 268 yards and three scores. Rushing, he has 28-123 yards. Chad Carson tied the Clemson opening day record for tackles with 18 against The Citadel last year. Jeff Davis also had 18 against Rice in the 1980 season opener.

Chad Carson ranked 4th in the nation in tackles in 2000.

Two of Nation's Top Tacklers on Display

While much of the talk about this game has centered around offense, there are some outstanding defenders on each team. In fact, two of the top four tacklers in the nation in 2000 will be on display this afternoon. Clemson's Chad Carson had 146 tackles in the regular season last year and his 13.27 tackles per game ranked fourth in the nation. Tito Rodriguez, like Carson a senior this year, had 121 tackles in nine games and his 13.44 tackles per game ranked second in the country to another ACC player, Levar Fisher of N.C. State.

Carson is a standout on the field and in the classroom. He was a first-team Academic All-American in 2000 after earning second team honors in 1999. He has a chance to join teammate Kyle Young as the only three-time Academic All-America selections in Clemson history.

On the field, Carson has 311 career tackles and enters the season ranked 12th in school history. He needs only six tackles against UCF to move all the way to ninth. He will quickly move ahead of Doug Brewster (312), Jim Stuckey (314) and Henry Walls (316). A model of consistency in all phases of his life, Carson has had double figures in tackles in 19 of his last 24 games, including each of his last six.

Rodriguez is a senior from Lehigh Acres, FL who missed the first two games of last year with a knee injury. He had just 57 total tackles in his first two years combined, then had 121 in the last nine games of 2000. Ten of his 121 tackles were tackles for loss and he had a season high 19 stops against Northern Illinois. He had 18 against Virginia Tech and 14 more in the win at Alabama.

Altroy Bodrick

By Marsha Byers

The 2001 season was the one Altroy Bodrick was waiting for. In his first three years he had started five games, but by and large he had played in the shadow of classmates Keith Adams and Chad Carson. Adams had moved on to the pro ranks and Bodrick was slated to be a starter at linebacker for a preseason top-20 team.

Then, those expectations came crashing down when he suffered a torn ACL in a knee during a scrimmage on Aug. 18. He will miss the entire season recuperating from the injury. "Losing Altroy is a big loss," said defensive coordinator Reggie Herring. "He has special talent, especially when it comes to speed. But, there will be football ahead for Altroy. He has never red-shirted, so he will be back to lead our linebackers in 2002."

This will be a difficult season for Bodrick for sure. But, he has a strong family at home in Cameron, SC and among his teammates right here on the Clemson campus. "It is disappointing because I was really looking forward to this season," said Bodrick. "I will just do what I can to help the team from the sidelines this year and work on rehab for next year."

Bodrick attended Fairfield Central High School in Winnsboro, SC playing under Tony Felder, the current head football coach at Benedict College. Felder saw a lot of potential in Bodrick and encouraged him to work hard and pursue a college football career.

After visiting Clemson, Virginia, South Carolina and Florida, Bodrick narrowed his choices to Clemson and Florida. "The only school that could have competed with Clemson was Florida," said Bodrick. "I wanted to play in the ACC or the SEC. In the end, Clemson won out because it is close to my family. My mother encouraged me to go to Clemson because she like the atmosphere athletically and academically."

Bodrick's family has been a vital part of his success as a student-athlete. His mother, Deloris Johnson, has had a big influence on Bodrick's career, as has his sister Stephanie, her son Zachary and Altroy's older brother Tyrone.

"My sister is like a second mother to me. She helped my mother raise me when I was younger. She and Zachary are very important to me." Stephanie and Zachary often come and visit Bodrick during the week and attend the Tiger games.

Tyrone is a police officer in Charleston, SC. He and Bodrick's uncle, Aubrey, are his biggest fans. "My brother and uncle travel to a lot of my away games, they don't mind the drive to Florida State or to Maryland. It is a good feeling to know that your family is behind you wherever you go."

Bodrick has a very unique first name, which he likes. His Aunt Shirley, who is married to his Uncle Aubrey, named him. He was named after a boy she met while attending college. "She thought that he was a good person. Aunt Shirley told my mother that my brother and sister had unique names, and that I needed something special. I am really glad that I have a different name. I like being the only Altroy I know."

Bodrick should stand out on the Clemson defense in 2002 for more than a unique first name. He had 36 tackles as a sophomore in 1999 when he started four games. Then he had 43 tackles in 12 games in 2000, with one start.

He was slated to start in 2001 beside his roommate and best friend Chad Carson. They became friends while rooming together on road trips their freshman year. "Chad and I are really close, he is my best friend. He has taught me a lot about football and life. Our friendship is special not only because we are friends, but our families are close friends, too."

"Altroy is one of the best athletes on our team," said Carson, who will be in his third season as a starting linebacker. "He is going to do some amazing things on the field when he returns. The Clemson fans will be shocked at his athleticism and quickness."

Bodrick has learned a lot, not only from his teammate Chad Carson, but also from coach Herring, his position coach. "Coach Herring is a great coach because he is a good teacher. He works us hard everyday, and he does not accept half effort. He has made me a better player."

Coach Herring has a history of coaching great players into the NFL. Anthony Simmons (Seattle), Keith Adams (Tennessee), and Rahim Abdullah (Cleveland) all were coached by Reggie Herring.

"Altroy Bodrick has been a hard worker who has made improvement every year he has been at Clemson," said Herring, who has been Bodrick's position coach his entire career.

"Altroy is committed to having a great senior year and I am sure he will work very hard on his rehabilitation. He is a very focused player and has outstanding speed. We plan to put him in position where that speed can have an impact on the success of the defense. He has worked his way up through the system. We look for him to have an outstanding year in 2002 and leave Clemson with a degree."

Bodrick has grown into a new role on the football team. He is now a leader and with that comes new responsibilities. Younger players are looking to him to set an example. "Effort is the most important part of college football," said Bodrick. "In high school you were probably the best player on your team, but when you get to Clemson everyone here is the best. You must come to practice and prove that you can perform on the field consistently."

Bodrick also sets an example off the field as a member of LIFE LINE, the football team's leadership organization. The program allows football players to interact with the Clemson community by volunteering at schools, retirement homes, and other areas around Clemson.

After tearing his ACL in a scrimmage on Aug. 18, linebacker Altroy Bodrick will sit this season out before returning for his final season in 2002.

Assistant Strength Coach Russell Patterson sees these leadership qualities in Bodrick every day. "Altroy is one of the most respected players that I work with in the strength training facility. I see the other players looking to him during practice and workouts. Everyone has a great admiration for his work ethic and his athletic ability."

Bodrick is on track to graduate this spring with a degree in Parks, Recreation, and Tourism Management with a concentration area in Sports Management. One of the areas he is pursuing as a career is sports information. This spring he plans to do an internship in the Clemson Sports Information office. "I like all sports, and I am excited to learn about the statistical aspect of the games. I am especially interested in basketball, baseball and golf."

Graduation day will be a special time for Bodrick and his family this spring. But, graduation won't be the end of his time at Clemson. His disappointment in 2001 will turn into joy in 2002 when he plays his final year of eligibility as a graduate student. That will certainly make his family proud.

Marsha Byers, a senior from Pickens, SC, is a student assistant in the Clemson Sports Information Office.

Tommy Bowden Q&A

Do you exchange ideas with your dad during the season?

A

"When I was at Tulane, Daddy was at Florida State, and Terry at Auburn, we exchanged a lot of technical information during the season. We used to exchange each others (video) tapes. But, once we came here and we were in the same conference we had to change our discussions. We exchange less technical information now. We talk about the length of practices, how much hitting we do during practice and disciplinary matters."

Q

What was it like growing up in the Bowden Family?

"I knew at a young age, around sixth or seventh grade, that I wanted to go into college coaching. That year I wrote a paper about what I wanted to do when I grew up and I wrote about being a football coach."

"When I went to high school my father was not an established head coach, he was in the process of making a name for himself at West Virginia. He was not that successful like he is now, but I still wanted to go into coaching. I was just comfortable with the profession and the game."

"Anytime you grow up in a large family and the boys are close in age you have a competitive atmosphere. All of us played football in the Pop Warner leagues and on up. All of us played in high school and three of us played in college, walking on and then earning a scholarship. Three of the four have chosen it as our profession. My brothers have considered other professions over the years, but I got the bug at an early age and stayed with it."

How much of an influence has your dad been on your coaching career?

"Any coach will tell you that the first coach they spent considerable time under will make a big impression on them. It just happened that my first coach was my dad. When you are young you are very impressionable, so I learned a lot of his philosophies and ideas early in my career when I was an assistant at Florida State. I spent four years under my dad at Florida State."

"I was around him when he was at the early stages of two programs (West Virginia and Florida State) and I saw how he handled things. That has helped me at Tulane and Clemson. I especially saw how he set the tone and tempo of his program on and off the field. The decisions he made turned out to be good ones and I have followed the same pattern in the early stages of my head coaching tenures at Tulane and Clemson."

Why were you so patient on the road to becoming a head coach?

"Everyone has a different philosophy on how they want to accomplish their goals. My goal was to eventually become a Division I head coach at a high caliber institution where you can be successful. I thought the best way to achieve that was to be an assistant at high profile schools."

"Being in a high profile program and being exposed to different styles of experienced coaches was the best way to form my own style. I took it all in and learned the intangibles involved in becoming a head coach. I felt working at Florida State, Alabama, Auburn and other established programs would give me a good base on all aspects of the profession."

Other than your dad, who has had an influence on your career?

"Ironically, one of the coaches who taught me a lot about the profession was Steve Sloan. He is now the athletic director at Central Florida, our opponent in the season opener. He was the head coach at Duke in 1983 and I worked under him for four years. The offensive coordinator at Alabama during my career in Tuscaloosa was Homer Smith. He had an outstanding offensive mind, especially when it came to detail work and the West Coast offense. I also picked up a lot of things when I worked for Terry at Auburn. I've learned some valuable lessons at every stop."

Tommy Bowden learned the game of football from his father Bobby, who got his 300th career victory against Tommy's Tigers in the Seminoles last visit to Death Valley in 1999.

What do you remember about the 1999 Clemson vs. Florida State game?

A

"For two weeks Clemson, SC was the football capital of the United States and that was great for our program and Clemson University. There were so many story lines in addition to it being the first father and son coaching matchup in college football history. My dad was going for his 300th career win, and Florida State was trying to keep its national championship drive alive. The demands on our time were considerable, but it was all positive. Once the game started the father and son aspect was removed. We were just coaching our respective teams. It was a great opportunity for our program and it was an electrifying night in this stadium. It was an atmosphere I will never forget."

Q

What has been the key to the improvement Clemson has made in your first two years as head coach?

"Any time you change coaches the new coach is going to come in with a different personality and a different philosophy. It is necessary for those 85 guys to adjust to the new style rather than the coach adjusting to those 85 different players. Our players bought into what we were trying to do early in the process."

"The players wanted to enhance the credibility level and respect level in this program, that is why they came here in the first play. There was success under Tommy West, but the players wanted to bring it to another level. Coach West brought good people to this program. The academic performance of our team and the number of players we have had graduate shows that. They wanted to win and were willing to put in the work."

Why are quarterbacks successful in your offense?

"We have had multi-talented quarterbacks in our offense at Tulane (Shawn King) and at Clemson. The number-one skill you need is the throwing skill, but the more athletic and talented a runner the player is, the better in this offense. It gives you more flexibility and you can make the package more comprehensive if you have a quarterback who can do both.

"Shawn King (at Tulane) was a better thrower than runner, but he was effective as a runner. Woody can do both. He can put pressure on the defense throwing or running and that is what you are looking for. Twenty years ago teams would take the running quarterback over the thrower and run the option.

"The success of the quarterback is also a function of the skill level of the wide receivers and running backs. I like to use the entire 53 yards (width) of the football field. You want to make the defense defend the entire field, so we spread the receivers and make them defend the entire field. The idea is to create as many one-on-one tackle situations as possible. If the defender misses it leads to a big gain. The more skilled position players you have, the more productive the offense and the more productive the quarterback."

How important is team chemistry?

"Team chemistry is very important on offense and defense in our system. In our offense we have highly skilled players at quarterback and the five guys who are eligible to catch the ball. You have only one ball. You have to be unselfish and everyone has to understand their role.

"On defense, there are times when our front four does stunts to free up our linebackers and safeties. As a result, our front four players don't have high tackle numbers, but our linebackers do. You could see that in the national defensive stats last year, Chad Carson and Keith Adams both were in the top 10 in the nation in tackles. Just as on offense, the players have to know their roles and the impact they have on the success of the team."

Is Woody Dantzler a Heisman Trophy Candidate?

"With what we do offensively, Woody has an opportunity to be successful. He has a lot of running and passing opportunities in this offense. We really spread the field and that gives him the opportunity to make players miss in the open field, plays he can turn into big gains. There are also a lot of passing opportunities for him. He has the chance to be the whole package with this offense. Last year he was a first-year starter in the offense and showed what he can do when he is healthy. He is now in his third year in this system and we look for him to be hungry and successful.

"As far as the Heisman is concerned, I have always believed that award is won on the field. He plays a position where his stats and accomplishments will be publicized all over the country on Saturday night highlight shows and in the Sunday morning paper. In this offense, he could post the numbers that make him a strong candidate. It will take care of itself.

How is it to have two Academic All-Americans on your 2001 team?

"We've got two guys that don't know what a 'B' is as far as academics. Chad Carson and Kyle Young set a great example for everyone on our team. Kyle already has his degree and Chad is a Rhodes Scholar candidate studying biology. Chad was our leading tackler last year and ranked fourth in the nation, while Kyle is a returning All-American at center. They both will have a big impact on our level of success this year."

Tommy Bowden has a chance to become the first Clemson coach to lead his team to a bowl game in each of his first three years with the program.

What are your goals for the team this year?

"To win the ACC it is going to take a healthy defense and some of the young guys on defense will have to step up and be productive early. If we can do well on offense, it will take some of the pressure off the defense. I think some of the inexperienced guys will mature by the middle of the season. Those players will have to be productive for us to make a run at a championship.

"Nobody wants to beat Florida State more than I do. But, our road to the National Championship has to go through Atlanta before it goes through Tallahassee. We haven't beat Georgia Tech in the last four years. There are so many question marks in the conference with coaching changes."

What is your opinion of the Bowl Championship Series?

"I think it is a good system. It has been affective the last three or four years. The best teams in college football have played in it every year. Is it perfect? Probably not, but what is? I think statistically the best teams have played in the National Championship game the last three or four years.

"The Bowl structure has been really good for college football. If people want a playoff format that is fine, as long as we can include the bowls. I think the question is how to do that. They have made some changes in the computer formula for this year whereby a team won't receive more computer points for running up the score. That is a good move."

Travis Zachery

By Jacob Barker

Today, more and more college football players are using weight lifting as a valuable tool for improving their strength and speed. Travis Zachery is no exception to this trend, but for the senior running back from Marietta, GA, his main source of strength does not come from a bench press or a squat rack. Instead it comes from the strong support of his family and from a mother who has always been there for him even when things have not gone exactly according to plan.

Zachery grew up in Marietta with his mother Katie, his two older sisters Crystal and Charita, and his older brother Michael. His mom raised all four children on her own while also working full-time as the shoe manager at a local department store. Zachery's childhood was far from easy, but it was his mom who held the family together even in the hardest of times. "My mom has definitely had the biggest influence on my life," stated Zachery. "It has not been easy for our family and my mom has had to struggle to be able to support my brother and sisters and I."

After a stellar high school career as a basketball and football player at Marietta High School, Zachery became one of the most highly sought after running backs in the nation. PrepStar rated him as an All-American and The Recruiting Advisor ranked him as the 17th best tailback in the nation. After countless discussions with his mom, he decided that Clemson would be the place that would best prepare him to achieve his goal of one day playing in the NFL. More importantly, though, Clemson was close enough to his home in Georgia that his family would be able to come to every game.

"My mom, my two sisters and my brother came to all my games when I was growing up and I didn't want that to change when I went to college," recalled Zachery. "Another reason that I chose Clemson was because I grew up in the atmosphere of a big city and I wanted to go somewhere that was smaller and quieter so that I could concentrate on football and school. It was a tough decision, though, because I loved basketball and thought that I might want to play that in college instead of football."

As the youngest of four children, Zachery became the first member of his family to attend college when he came to Clemson in the fall of 1997. As a red-shirt freshman in 1998, he started all 11 games and became the first freshman running back to start every game for the Tigers since Terry Allen in 1987. That season he also led the team in rushing and all-purpose yardage and was named an honorable mention freshman All-American by Football News.

Success did not come easy for Zachery, however, and it was not until a late game 28-yard catch over North Carolina's All-American cornerback Dre' Bly in the fifth game of the season that Zachery gained the confidence he needed to become a big-time college tailback. "After I caught the pass over Bly it was like, 'Welcome to college to football' and that one play really helped my confidence," remembered Zachery.

The following season, in Coach Tommy Bowden's first year at Clemson, Zachery was suspended from spring practice and the opening game of the season against Marshall as a result of off the field discipline problems. Although his suspension was hard for him to understand at the time, Zachery now views it as probably the most important period of his life.

"Looking back on it now, it made me see some things that I was not seeing at the time," recalled Zachery. "Getting suspended was very hard on me because all I could do was sit there and watch as my teammates performed so hard on the field. It helped me to realize though that I had to start doing things right if I wanted to be successful."

"Coach Bowden was hard on me, but that really helped me out. Who knows what would have happened to me if he had not got me going in the right direction and made me see things differently. He still pushes me very hard everyday and that really has helped me to keep getting better."

As she has been throughout his entire life, Zachery's mom was there for him as he struggled to deal with the fact that the game he loved so much had been taken away from him. She called him every night to check on him and to make sure that he was not getting down on himself. "He's my baby and I knew that he was going through a tough time," Ms. Zachery said of her youngest son. "I simply told him that he was at the crossroads in his life and that he was not going to be able to run away from his mistakes. I also kept telling him that everyone makes mistakes, but that he was going to have to start acting like a man and correct those mistakes if he was going to become a stronger person."

Despite sitting out the Marshall game, Zachery finished the 1999 season as the Tigers' leading rusher and his 16 touchdowns that season were the second highest single season total in Clemson history. He helped lead the Tigers to a second place finish in the ACC and a berth against Mississippi State in the Peach Bowl. Even though he suffered a dislocated elbow in the bowl game, the success the team experienced that season remains as one the highlights of his career. "We were in every game that season and were only a couple of points away from winning those games," stated Zachery. "After going 3-8 the year before, the way we were able to pull together as a team is something that I am very proud of and that I will never forget."

Last season, Zachery was named first-team All-ACC and became the eighth player in Clemson history to rush for 1,000 yards. He had probably his best game of the season against Maryland on homecoming when he rushed for 151 yards and caught three passes in a game televised on ESPN2. For the season, he was second on the team in receptions with 29 and his 18 touchdowns set the Clemson record for touchdowns in a season. He became Clemson's career leader for receptions by a running back (60) and he also broke the Clemson record for most career touchdowns (39). His 108 total points last season set a Clemson single season record, and his 1370 all-purpose running yards were the seventh highest single season total in school history.

"Breaking the all-time touchdown record at Clemson is something that I am very proud of because breaking records has always been a goal of mine," Zachery said. "People have always doubted my ability and told me that I couldn't do this or I couldn't do that so that was a very big accomplishment for me personally."

Tailback Travis Zachery has 39 career touchdowns and is already the school's career leader in the category.

Even with the tremendous success he has experienced over the last three seasons, Zachery admits that he probably would not be in the position that he is today without the strength and support of his mom. "She is the reason I work so hard on the field," he stated. "I have had some struggles since I have been here, but I always keep her in the back of my mind. She was there for me every step of the way and she really sets a good example for the way I want to live my life. She has always kept our family together, doing the right things and I want to do good things because of her."

Zachery's mom has always told him that family is the most important thing in life and that it is his family that will be there beside him no matter how bad things might get. "When we do something, we do it together and as a family," Ms. Zachery stated. "Whether it is having Sunday dinner at my house or driving to one of Travis' games, I insist that everyone be there."

The effort his family makes to attend all of his games and the support the team gets from all Clemson fans is something that Zachery appreciates. "Every game when I get my four tickets I know that they are going to my mom, my two sisters, and my brother," smiled Zachery. "I also know exactly where their seats are every game and they are the first people I look to when I score a touchdown."

"I also love that Clemson is a football school and that we have fans out there watching even when we are out there practicing. There is great fan support at Clemson and everybody is always pulling for you. I just love the atmosphere of Clemson."

His entire life, Zachery has become accustomed to people telling him that he doesn't have the necessary size or speed to be a successful running back. Over his college career he has become not only one the best pure running backs in Clemson history, but he has also developed into the school's best receiver out of the backfield. His improvement as a player has not been simply by chance or coincidence but rather it has been by persistence and hard work.

"I know I am not the fastest or the biggest guy on the field, but I just try to concentrate on the abilities that I do have," said Zachery. "I have been blessed with good hands and good vision and I think those attributes are just as important as being fast. I always try to focus on the things that I can control in my life and on the field. Running good routes and increasing my agility are aspects of my game that I can improve. Those are the types of things that I spend the most time on in practice and in the off season."

Zachery says that he is very impressed with what he seen from the incoming class of freshmen and that he has very high expectations for himself and the team in 2001. He is a preseason Doak Walker Award candidate and all the pieces seem to be in place for an outstanding senior season. "The freshmen we are bringing in are getting better and better every year," Zachery said. "There is a great deal of speed in this year's class and if they keep working and doing the things they are supposed to, they are going to be very good."

"We want to go undefeated, that is our team goal. Our goal on offense is to be unstoppable in every game. In the past we have not been able to execute and move the ball in the big games and that is something that we have to improve on. Personally, my goal is to improve on the numbers that I put up last year. Another goal is to be a better blocker and a better leader on the team."

For Clemson to reach these goals, however, Zachery also knows the he is going to have to provide valuable leadership to the younger players on the team. "I am not a very vocal guy on the field and I just try to lead by example," Zachery stated. "I am very intense on the field, though, and when it is time to shout and show emotion I will do it. I want to score every time I touch the ball and inside the red zone I am hungry for the ball. I feel like I have a knack for wanting to get into the end zone and I want the other players on the team to have that same feeling."

While she knows her son's goal is to play in the NFL, Ms. Zachery gives daily reminders to him about the importance of an education. "I tell Travis every day, that getting an education is the first and foremost reason that he is in college," she said. "He also knows that he has been blessed with an amazing gift to play football, but just as easy as he was given that gift it can be taken away at any time."

If the NFL does not work out for Zachery, don't be surprised to see him coaching football or basketball at a high school in your area. "I have always loved being around kids and I could see myself being a coach someday after I stop playing football," stated Zachery. "The only problem is that it would be hard for me to decide between coaching basketball or football because I love both sports."

The pride Ms. Zachery has in Travis is very evident when she is asked about the progress he has made both on and off the football field since his arrival at Clemson four years ago. "He has matured so much over the last couple of years," his mom stated. "He has become such a strong person and I am just so grateful that he has remembered everything that I have tried to teach him."

"People are always coming up to me at work and asking me if I am Travis Zachery's mom, and it makes me feel so good to tell them that he is my son. I truly believe that I have four of the best children anybody could every have, but I am especially proud of Travis and all that he has been able to accomplish." 🐾

President James F. Barker

Building A Future For Clemson

ties enhancements will include the opening of a new biotechnology complex, the renovation of Fike Recreation Center, and significant progress on the Tiger Pride athletics facilities campaign.

A 1970 Clemson graduate, the former dean of the university's College of Architecture, Arts and Humanities was named president in October 1999.

Barker earned his bachelor of architecture degree from Clemson and his master of architecture and urban design degree from Washington University in St. Louis. Before returning to Clemson in 1986 to serve as dean of the College of Architecture, he was dean of the School of Architecture at Mississippi State University. In 1995, he became dean of the new College of Architecture, Arts and Humanities, which was created after a comprehensive reorganization and has received national attention as a new model in education.

He is a recipient of the National Distinguished Professor Award of the Association of Collegiate Schools of Architecture and served as president of that association. Barker was named Fellow of the American Institute of Architects. He also has been a partner in an architectural practice.

He has received honorary doctorate degrees from South Carolina State University and Mars Hill College and has served on the Truman Scholars Selection Committee.

As a dean at Clemson, Barker co-founded the S.C. Design Arts Partnership to support community design outreach projects, initiated the Charleston Architecture Center, established the university's "Arts in April" program, and developed a Mayors' Institute to help city leaders learn how to manage issues related to growth and development.

Despite his new responsibilities as president, Barker remains committed to the classroom. He is part of a team of instructors who teach an undergraduate course exploring "a sense of place" in architecture, literature, and history.

"I think it's important that a president never lose touch with the classroom," he said.

The Barkers — Jim and Marcia — have two sons: Britt, a student at Daniel High School, and Jacob, who graduated from the University of North Carolina, attending on a baseball scholarship, and is now enrolled in Graduate School at Clemson.

Clemson University's 14th President, James F. Barker, brought to the job a clear vision of Clemson's future that since has evolved into a new set of goals designed to make Clemson one of the nations' top 20 public universities.

To achieve that ambitious goal, Barker is focusing on building the quality of teaching, research and service programs, as well increasing Clemson's involvement in international programs, recruiting stronger students, improving the library, winning athletic championships, and providing more resources in and out of the classroom.

"South Carolina students deserve to have access to a top-tier education without leaving their home state," he said. "Building Clemson's academic, research and service programs to the level where we can compete with anyone will benefit our state, our students, and our alumni."

Considerable progress is already being made toward achieving a top-20 ranking. In the past year, Clemson was named TIME Magazine's Public College of the Year, saw the largest one-year increase in research funding in history, and its highest SAT average among freshmen.

More progress is expected this year. A new academic support center will give students access to tutoring, counseling, workshops and other resources to help them improve their academic performance. A new Rutland Center for Ethics will help faculty, students and members of the community foster skills for making ethical judgments. Facili-

Jim Barker, above with wife Marcia, has set a goal to make Clemson one of the top 20 Public Universities in the nation.

Head Coach Tommy Bowden

It hasn't taken Tommy Bowden long to bring Clemson back to its customary place among the elite programs in the nation. A team with a 3-8 record in 1998, Clemson was ranked third in the nation in the USA Today Poll of Oct. 22, 2000 after an 8-0 start. That ranking was the highest for the program in 16 years. The final #14 ranking in that same poll was the highest final listing for the program since the 1990 season.

Making a swift improvement is nothing new for Bowden. In 1997, he took over a 4-7 Tulane program and brought the Green Wave to a 7-4 mark in his first year. In 1998, the improvement continued with an 11-0 regular season and number-seven national ranking. In 1999, Bowden inherited a 3-8 Clemson team and elevated the Tigers to a bowl game and 6-6 final record. The 2000 Tigers concluded the season with a 9-3 record, its high win total since 1993.

As you can see, a pattern has formed in Tommy Bowden's head coaching career. In each of his first four years he has coached his team to exactly a three-win improvement over the previous year, believed to be a first in Division I college football history. If he brings Clemson to another three-win improvement in 2001 it really would be newsworthy, because the Tigers would have a 12-0 record, and a National Championship. Bowden already is just the third coach in Clemson history to bring the Tigers to a three-win improvement in consecutive years and is one of just two Division I coaches (John Robinson at UNLV) to do it over the 1999 and 2000 seasons.

In his first two years at Clemson, Bowden has a 15-9 record with the Tigers, and two bowl appearances. In 2001, he will attempt to do something that predecessors Jess Neely, Frank Howard, Charley Pell, Danny Ford and Ken Hatfield all failed to do: take the Tigers to a bowl game each of his first three years with the program.

The Tigers set 57 school records in 2000 and have set 98 marks in the 24 games Bowden has served as head coach, over four per game. The 2000 season produced a Heisman Trophy contender in quarterback Woodrow Dantzler, who personally set 16 of the 45 individual bests recorded by Clemson athletes last season. The 12 team records set in 2000 included total offense per game in a season (437), touchdowns in a season (55) and most points in a season (416).

Clemson was one of the most balanced teams in the nation in 2000. Clemson ranked in the top 15 in the nation in scoring offense, total offense and rushing offense. It had a top 25 ranking in passing efficiency offense. Clemson was one of six teams nationally to average more than 200 yards rushing and 200 yards passing in 2000. He is the only Division I coach to average at least 190 of each category and at least 430 yards of total offense over the last four years.

For the first time ever, Clemson had two 1000-yard rushers and a 1000-yard receiver on the same team. Defensively, Chad Carson and Keith Adams both ranked in the top 10 in the nation in tackles per game and four Tigers were named first-team All-ACC, the high figure since 1991.

His second Clemson team was one of the most decorated in history. Six different Clemson players were finalists or semifinalist for national position awards, including linebacker Keith Adams, who was one of the final three candidates for the Butkus Award. Center Kyle Young was one of the top three candidates for the Dave Rimington Award. Four players were named All-Americans and eight players were first or second-team all-conference selections.

Young and Chad Carson were both named first-team Academic All-Americans, making Clemson the only Division I-A school in the nation to have a pair of first-team selections. For the second straight year the football team had its highest team GPA on record and a record number of ACC Academic honor roll recipients. Seven starters on the 2001 team already have degrees from Clemson.

When Bowden came to Clemson, he had one simple goal — Improvement. Bowden warned Clemson supporters that the Tigers were unlikely to be bowl participants in 1999, but his main focus was to improve. Bowden's goal of improvement was reached and he was happy to be wrong about his preseason prediction, as the Tigers were invited to the 1999 Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl.

In 1999, Bowden accomplished a personal milestone that no Clemson coach had attained since 1981, the year the Tigers won the National Championship. He became the first Clemson coach since Danny Ford to be named ACC Coach of the Year.

Bowden led the Tigers to a 6-6 record and 5-3 mark in the ACC against the nation's third toughest regular season schedule according to Jeff Sagarin. The Tigers finished tied for second with Georgia Tech and Virginia in the final conference standings, a six-place improvement over the previous season, the greatest one season jump in ACC history in league play.

The Tigers also made a four-game ACC win improvement in 1999. It was just the fifth time in ACC history that a team made that big of a league victory jump. Bowden had taken over a team with a losing record and brought it to a bowl game in his first season, just the sixth coach in ACC history to accomplish that feat.

The Clemson program set or tied 41 school records in Bowden's first year, including 26 on offense. Ironically, Bowden's first Tulane team set or tied 26 offensive school records.

The improvements in the ACC standings were thanks in large part to an innovative offensive attack. The Clemson offense ended the season averaging 402.6 yards per game, nearly a 100-yard per game improvement over 1998. The Tigers scored 26.8 points per game in 1999 compared to 19.8 in 1998. Clemson's 42 touchdowns in 1999 ranked fifth best in school history.

In 1998, Clemson ranked 103rd in the nation in turnover margin, but in 1999 the Tigers were 11th, an incredible 92-place improvement in the rankings. Clemson has a 209-80 advantage in points off turnovers in his first two years at Clemson.

Under Bowden, Clemson continued its strong defensive tradition. With 47 sacks, Clemson was first in the ACC in that category for the second straight season, and the final total established a school record. Three players (Keith Adams - 15.5, Chad Carson - 12.0, Robert Carswell - 10.8) all had nearly 11 tackles per game in 1999 to rank among the top four tacklers in the league.

Adams, a sophomore that season, finished the season with 186 tackles, highest in the nation, and broke the Clemson single season tackle record held by Anthony Simmons. They all contributed to the 17th best pass efficiency defense in the nation, a unit that had 19 interceptions, ninth highest in the country.

Thanks to the wide open offensive attack several Clemson players made their presence felt in the national rankings and the Clemson record book. Sophomore running back Travis Zachery had 16 touchdowns to rank ninth in the country in scoring.

Junior wide receiver Rod Gardner became the school's first 1000-yard receiver. Gardner had 80 receptions for 1084 yards, Clemson single season records in both areas. He was 17th in the nation in receptions per game with a 6.6 mark. His yards per game average of 91.7 was 23rd best in the nation.

For the first time in Clemson history two Tiger quarterbacks threw for over 1000 yards in a season. Woodrow Dantzler passed for 1506 yards, while Brandon Streeter passed for 1466 yards during the regular season. The two diametrically opposite quarterbacks had total offense games over 350 yards, a testimony to Bowden's offensive system.

Clemson played the third toughest schedule in the nation in 1999. Four of Clemson's losses came against teams ranked in the top 15 of the final AP poll. Bowden Bowl I, the first ever meeting between father and son head coaches in college football history, took place on October 23, 1999. Bowden faced his father Bobby's top ranked Florida State team in Death Valley in front of a national television audience. The Tigers lost a tough battle to the eventual National Champions, 17-14, the closest margin of victory for the Seminoles and the fewest points they recorded all season by two touchdowns.

Making strong improvement in his first year with a program was nothing new for Bowden. In the two seasons he was the head coach at Tulane, Bowden took a team that had been 4-18 in the two years previous to his arrival, and emotionally and numerically reversed the team's fortunes with an 18-4 record, posted an 11-1 conference mark and finished the 1998 season ranked seventh in the nation by both polls. Tulane and Tennessee were the only undefeated teams in college football in 1998.

His Tulane team had a 22-game average of 39.7 points, 5.1 touchdowns, 463 yards of total offense, 270.5 yards passing, and 192.6 yards rushing. The Green Wave averaged 6.34 yards per play, and converted on third down 47 percent of the time.

Some say the most telling statistic in terms of wins and losses and the most telling statistic when it comes to coaching ability is turnover margin. The Green Wave ranked fifth in the nation in turnover margin each of his seasons at Tulane.

It didn't take Bowden long to put Tulane back on the college football landscape. In his first year, Tulane was picked last in the preseason polls of Conference USA. But, he led the New Orleans based school to a 7-4 record, a second-place conference standing with just one league loss, and set 33 school records in the process, including 26 on offense.

Tulane's accomplishments on offense were noteworthy in 1997, but their offensive charts reached uncharted areas in 1998. Tulane stood as the only school in the nation that averaged over 300 yards per game passing and 200 yards per game rushing. The team ranked fourth in the nation in total offense (507.1 per game) and second in scoring (45.4 points per game).

The Green Wave scored 40 or more points in eight contests in 1998, including each of the last seven games. In one game the Green Wave scored 72 points and rolled up 704 yards of total offense. They converted 52 percent of their third-down opportunities for the season and had just 11 turnovers in over 800 plays.

The 1998 season saw the program post a perfect 11-0 regular season under Bowden, its first perfect regular season since 1931. The Green Wave won Conference USA, its first league title since Tulane won the SEC in 1949. Bowden was named Conference USA Coach of the Year.

Bowden's team ranked seventh in the final AP poll and was a mainstay in the polls from the third week of the season on. Tulane had not been ranked at any time since 1979 and had not been ranked in a final poll since 1973. After Bowden accepted the job at Clemson, Tulane defeated BYU in the Liberty Bowl, 41-27.

A look to the list of coaches who had undefeated seasons in the 1990s shows two other men named Bowden. His father, Florida State Head Coach Bobby Bowden, had a perfect regular season in 1996 and 1999, while his brother, Terry, posted a perfect regular season in 1993. Obviously, the Bowdens are the first family of college coaching and this "Wonder Years" environment had a lot to do with Tommy Bowden's decision to enter the coaching world.

The fatherly influence of a college coach who reached 300 career wins against his son in 1999, also had an influence on other members of the family. Terry has been a head coach at Samford and Auburn, posting a 47-17-1 record at the latter. Terry serves as an in-studio commentator for ABC's college football package. Jeff Bowden is in his seventh year as wide receivers coach at Florida State, his first as offensive coordinator.

Tommy Bowden began his college football experience as a walk-on wide receiver at West Virginia. He played for his father between 1973-74-75 and then for Frank Signetti during the 1976 season.

As a junior he caught 15 passes for 189 yards and one score. Bowden remained at West Virginia for the 1977 season and began his coaching career, serving as a graduate assistant on Signetti's staff. His interest in coaching only became more intense after that first year as a GA. His father then hired him as a secondary coach at Florida State for the 1978 season.

That experience confirmed to Bowden that he was in a profession that would be his life's work. The Seminoles posted a 19-4 mark in his two seasons at Florida State.

In 1980, Bowden joined the staff at East Carolina, where he coached for the Spring practice session of 1980. That spring, he moved to Auburn and served as the Tigers running backs coach for the 1980 season. Among the players he coached was James Brooks, who went on to a 13-year NFL career and is still second in Auburn history in rushing.

In 1981, Bowden returned to Tallahassee as the tight ends coach. In two more years at Florida State, the Seminoles posted a 15-8 mark. The 1982 team ranked 13th in the final poll, claimed a 9-3 record and a Gator Bowl championship.

In 1983, Bowden accepted his first job as a coordinator. He served under Steve Sloan at Duke as the Blue Devils quarterbacks coach and offensive coordinator. It was as the Duke offensive coordinator that Bowden made his first trip to Death Valley as a coach. Among the players Bowden tutored was Anthony Dilweg, who went on to an NFL career.

After four years at Duke, Bowden became the wide receivers coach at Alabama under Bill Curry. It was at Alabama that Bowden refined his offensive coaching prowess under noted offensive mind Homer Smith, then the Alabama Offensive Coordinator.

In 1990, Bowden returned to a coordinator position, serving Kentucky as its offensive coordinator and wide receivers coach. That season he helped the Wildcats to their first upper division SEC finish since 1984.

In 1991, Bowden joined Pat Dye at Auburn. He would remain with the SEC Tigers for six years, his longest stint as a college assistant coach. During his tenure, Auburn was a combined 46-20-2, including a perfect 11-0 season in 1993. Auburn had four Associated Press top 25 seasons, including a number-four final ranking in 1993 and a number-nine final rating in 1994. The Tigers were 20-1-1 in 1993-94 combined. Bowden worked under his brother Terry Bowden for his last four years at Auburn and the Tigers had a 36-9-1 record with both Bowdens on the staff.

Born on July 10, 1954, in Birmingham, AL, Bowden is married to the former Linda Joan White, who he first met when the two were in school together at Morgantown High in West Virginia. The couple has two children, Ryan (19), a sophomore at Clemson, and Lauren (16) a junior at Daniel High in Clemson.

Death Valley

Clemson Memorial Stadium has been held in high esteem for many years. Whether it be players from the 1940s and 1950s, opposing players from the 1970s and 1980s, or even professional players in the 1990s, the ambiance of this special setting is what college football is all about.

The storied edifice added to its legend when the first meeting of father and son head coaches (Bowden Bowl I) took place before a sellout crowd of more than 86,000 fans in 1999.

In the 1970s, 1980s and 1990s, various publications named top 10 stadiums in college football and Clemson Memorial Stadium, affectionately known as "Death Valley," has been a common denominator on those lists.

The facility's mystique is derived from its many traditions, which date to its opening in 1942, the legendary games and players, and Clemson's corresponding rate of success. Clemson has won 208 games in the previous 59 years there (208-81-7) and has won over 70 percent of the contests. Thirty-three times since 1983, crowds have exceeded 80,000.

The stadium has definitely been good to the Tigers who call it home, but the stadium was constructed against the advice of at least one Clemson coach. Just before head coach Jess Neely left for Rice University after the 1939 season, he gave Clemson a message. "Don't ever let them talk you into building a big stadium," he said. "Put about 10,000 seats behind the Y.M.C.A. That's all you'll ever need".

Instead of following Coach Neely's advice, however, Clemson officials decided to build the new stadium in a valley on the western part of campus. The place would take some clearing—there were many trees, but luckily there were no hedges.

The crews went to work: clearing, cutting, pouring, and forming. Finally, on September 19, 1942, Clemson Memorial Stadium opened with the Tiger football team thrashing Presbyterian College, 32-13. Those 20,000 seats installed for Opening Day would soon grow; and grow and grow. This year Clemson celebrates its 60th year in this outstanding facility.

When the original part of the stadium was built in the early 40's, much of the work was done by scholarship athletes, including many football players. The first staking out of the stadium was done by two members of the football team, A.N. Cameron and Hugh Webb. Webb returned to Clemson years later to be an architecture professor, and Cameron went on to become a civil engineer in Louisiana.

The building of the stadium did not proceed without a few problems. One day during the clearing of the land, one young football player proudly announced that he was not allergic to poison oak. He then commenced to attack the poison oak with a swing blade, throwing the plants to and fro. The next day, however, the boy was swollen twice his size and had to be put in the hospital.

There are many other stories about the stadium, including one stating that Frank Howard put a chew of tobacco in each corner of the stadium as the concrete poured.

Howard said that the seeding of the grass caused a few problems. "About 40 people and I laid sod on the field," he said. "After three weeks, on July 15, we had only gotten halfway through.

"I told them that it had taken us three weeks to get that far, and I would give them three more week's pay for however long it took. I also told them we would have 50 gallons of ice cream when we got through. After that it took them three days to do the rest of the

Clemson has had 33 crowds of more than 80,000 in Death Valley, including a record of 86,092 for Bowden field. Then we sat down in the middle of the field and ate up that whole 50 gallons."

Howard said that on the day of the first game in the stadium, "the gates were hung at 1:00 pm and we played at 2:00 pm." But that would be all of the construction for a while. Then in 1958, 18,000 sideline seats were added and, in 1960, a total of 5,658 West end zone seats were added in response to increasing attendance. With the large end zone, "Green Grass" section, this expansion increased capacity to about 53,000.

Later, upper decks were added to each side of the stadium as crowds swelled-the first one in 1978 and the second in 1983. This increased capacity to over 80,000 which makes it one of the 10 largest on-campus stadiums in the country.

The effect spiraling inflation has had in this century can be dramatically seen in the differences in stadium construction. The original part of the stadium was built at a cost of $125,000 or at $6.25 a seat. The newest upper deck was finished in 1983 at a cost of $13.5 million, or $866 a seat.

Through the years, Memorial Stadium has become known as "Death Valley." It was tagged this by the late Presbyterian coach, Lonnie McMillan. After bringing his P.C. teams to Clemson for years and getting whipped, McMillan said the place was like Death Valley. A few years later the name stuck.

On November 16, 1974 the playing surface was named Frank Howard Field for the legendary coach because of his long service and dedication to the University.

Luckily, the stadium wasn't built behind the Y.

Clemson Traditions

First Friday Parade

The Clemson football season kicks off each year with the annual First Friday Parade. The once-a-year event takes place on the Friday afternoon prior to the first home game (Aug. 31 this year). Floats from various fraternities and sororities and other campus organizations are represented in the parade that rolls down highway 93 in front of the President's Home in Clemson. The parade culminated at the Amphitheater in the heart of campus where the first Pep Rally of the year takes place.

The Grant Marshal of parade is featured at the pep rally. Last year, President Jim Barker was the Grand Marshal. At the conclusion of the parade route he disappeared for a few moments, only to reappear on the stage of the amphitheater in the Tiger mascot's suit. Other Grand Marshals have been Clemson legend Frank Howard, former PGA Tour pro Dillard Pruitt, Hall of Fame coach Jess Neely and noted television announcers Brent Musburger and Ara Parseghian.

Homecoming

Tigerama is the World's largest pep rally and it takes place on the Friday evening prior to Homecoming. This combination pep rally, beauty pageant, fireworks display and skit presentation attracts over 30,000 people. It was the brainchild of former Clemson legend Gator Farr, who was the master of pep rallies in the 1940s and 1950s. This year Tigerama will be held at Death Valley on Oct. 1 at 7:00 P.M.

Clemson will face North Carolina on Homecoming on Oct. 20 this year. The Tigers are 26-2-2 since 1971 on Homecoming with the only losses coming to Georgia Tech in 1989 and to Virginia in 1997. The first homecoming game played at Clemson took place on Sept. 30, 1922 when Centre defeated Clemson at Riggs Field, 21-0.

Clemson has celebrated Homecoming every year since 1922 with the exception of the 1930 and 1938 seasons. Clemson has a 56-18-3 record on Homecoming games over the years, a .755 winning percentage and has outscored the opposition 1644-1010 in those previous 77 games. The average margin of victory is 21 to 13.

Howard's Rock

When the Clemson team gathers to Run Down the Hill (see Running Down the Hill) the players rub Howard's Rock because of the mystical powers it is supposed to give Clemson players. The rock is mounted on a pedestal at the top of the hill and was given to Coach Frank Howard by a friend (S.C. Jones' 19) who picked it up in Death Valley, CA. The Rock was first placed on the pedestal at the top of the hill on Sept. 24, 1966, a game Clemson won 40-35 over Virginia. The team started rubbing the rock for the first game of 1967, a 23-6 win over Wake Forest on Sept. 23, 1967. The pedestal was refurbished prior to the 2000 season.

Running Down the Hill

Running Down the Hill is one of the most exciting 25 seconds in college football from a color and pageantry standpoint. After Clemson's last warmup, the team retreats to the home dressing room located under the West Stands. At about 12:50 (for normal 1:00 P.M. game), the team boards two buses and drives around the periphery of the stadium to the east side of the field.

After everyone is properly collected, the cannon sounds, Tiger Rag is played and Clemson charges down the hill (exactly 100 feet top to bottom) and onto the field. It is one of the most celebrated entrances in sport. The Tigers have done it for every game since 1942, except for 1970, 1971 and four games of the 1972 season.

In all, the Tigers have run down the hill 280 times heading into 2001. How in the world did the tradition of running down the hill start? There is no long involved explanation. It used to be the quickest way to get to the field. When the stadium was built in 1942 the football lockerrooms were up the street in Fike Fieldhouse.

When the players were finished getting dressed they used to walk out the front door and walk down the street to "The Hill". Coach Howard continued the tradition when lockerrooms were finally built inside the stadium because Clemson fans used to get so fired up when they gathered at the top of the hill. That's when the buses came into use to spend the trip from the lockerroom to the other side of the stadium. Clemson now has a record of 202-72-7, a .731 percentage winning mark, when they run down the hill. Clemson is 6-9 (40 percent) when it doesn't use the hill as its entrance.

The Tiger Paw

John Antonio holds a special place in the hearts of Tiger fans and in the pocketbooks of sports marketing entrepreneurs. Antonio invented the Tiger paw, the distinctive logo of the Clemson athletic teams that has become synonymous with this University's athletic success.

Antonio was an innovative account executive with Henderson Advertising in Greenville, and prior to the 1970 season, unveiled the Paw as Clemson's new logo. It has shown up all over the country on items owned by Clemson fans. Many institutions with a feline as mascot have used the logo, or an impression of it.

Antonio also came up with the phrase, "Fly the friendly skies of United," when he worked for the Leo Burnette Agency in Chicago. "I've never had a logo or an emblem copied as much as the Tiger Paw," said Antonio, now 70 and living in Greenville.

Antonio still remembers the day he made the presentation of the Tiger Paw to Frank Howard, then the Clemson Athletic Director. "He wasn't saying much at all," recalled Antonio in an article in the Greenville News by Alyce Atkinson on Feb. 16, 1997. "I kind of thought I was losing this fight."

At this point Antonio pulled out an orange football helmet with a tiger paw painted on the side.

"Coach Howard's eyes got as big as saucers and he smiled. From there it was downhill. Coach Howard wanted that helmet." Those Tiger paws are still on the Clemson helmets today.

TIGER MASCOT

Since 1954, a Clemson student has adorned the mascot suit to entertain the Clemson faithful. Joined in 1993 by the Tiger Cub, these furry creatures can be seen imitating game officials (now against the rules) signing autographs, getting their pictures taken with dignitaries like Presidents Reagan and Bush, shooting the cannon, or doing pushups each time Clemson scores. We keep pushup records. Last year, thanks to Tommy Bowden's record-breaking offense, Jon Potter broke the single season pushup record by over 300 pushups.

Running Down the Hill

What has been described as, "the most exciting 25 seconds in college football from a color and pageantry standpoint," actually started out as a matter-of-fact entrance, mainly because of necessity.

The first 20,000 seats in Clemson Memorial Stadium were built and ready for use before the 1942 season. Less than a year before Pearl Harbor was bombed and the United States was at war.

The shortest entry into the stadium was a walk down Williamson Road from Fike Field House's dressing rooms to a gate at the top of the hill behind the east end zone. There were no dressing facilities in the west end zone—only a big clock where the hands turned, and a scoreboard, which was operated by hand.

The team would dress at Fike, walk down Williamson Road, come in the gate underneath where the big scoreboard now stands and jog down the hill for its warm-up exercises. There was no fanfare, no cannon shot fired, no tiger paw flag, no Tiger Rag played...just the team making its entrance and lining up to do the side straddle hop.

That's pretty much the way things went for the next 25 years.

Either in 1964 or 1965, S.C. Jones, a member of the Clemson class of 1919, made a trip to California. He stopped at a spot in Death Valley, CA, and picked up this white flint rock. He presented it to Coach Frank Howard as being from Death Valley, CA, to Death Valley, South Carolina."

The rock laid on the floor in Howard's office in Fike for a year or more. One day Howard was cleaning up his office and he told Gene Willimon, who was the executive secretary of IPTAY, to, "take this rock and throw it over the fence, or out in the ditch...do something with it, but get it out of my office."

Willimon didn't think that was the way a rock should be treated. Afterall, it had been brought 3000 miles by a very sincere Tiger fan.

By the mid-sixties, Memorial Stadium was pretty well living up to its moniker, Death Valley, because of the number of victories that had been recorded there. Actually, the name was first used by the late Lonnie McMillian, head coach at Presbyterian College in Clinton in the 1940s.

McMillian and the other Blue Hose coaches before him used to open the season each year by coming to Clemson. Seldom scoring (24 shutouts in 39 games) and with only three wins and four ties to show for it, his teams were getting killed by the Tigers regularly. In 1948 McMillian made the comment to the press that he was taking his team to play Clemson in Death Valley.

Running Down the Hill

An occasional reference to Memorial stadium by that name could be heard for the next three or four years, but when Howard started calling it 'Death Valley' in the 1950's, the name took off like wildfire. The Tigers celebrated the 50th season in the 'valley' in 1991.

But getting back to Howard's rock.

The rock was mounted on a pedestal at the top of the hill. It was unveiled September 24, 1966, on a day when Clemson played Virginia. The Tigers were down 18 points with 17 minutes to play and came back to win (40-35) on a 65-yard pass play from Jimmy Addison to Jacky Jackson in the fourth period. That was quite a spectacular debut for that rock.

The team members started rubbing the rock prior to running down the hill September 23, 1967, a day when Clemson defeated Wake Forest, 23-6. Prior to running down the hill that day, Howard told his players: "If you're going to give me 110 percent, you can rub that rock. If you're not, keep your filthy hands off it." Howard told of the incident the next day on his Sunday television show and the story became legend.

When Hootie Ingram succeeded Howard as head coach prior to the 1970 season, Ingram decided that the team would make its final entrance on the field out of the dressing room in the west end zone. In all home games in 1970 and 1971 and the first four of 1972 when the Tigers did not run down the hill, their record was 6-9. The team decided it wanted to come down the hill once prior to the South Carolina game in 1972. The result, in a cold, freezing rain, was a 7-6 victory when Jimmy Williamson knocked down a two-point conversion attempt which preserved the win.

The Tigers have made the entrance for every home game since 1942, except for the seasons mentioned above—280 times heading into the 2001 season.

After Clemson's final warm-up, the team goes back into its dressing room under the west end zone stands for final game instructions. About 10 minutes before kickoff the team boards two buses, rides around behind the north stands to the east end zone and debarks to the top of the hill behind Howard's Rock.

At the appointed time, the cannon booms and led by a high-flying tiger paw flag, the band forms two lines for the team to run between and strikes up 'Tiger Rag'...The frenzy starts in all sincerity...and usually lasts two and a half to three hours.

It is a tradition that has inspired Clemson players for many years.

Matt Bailey

By Louis Garmendia

This fall, one Tiger in particular will be on the prowl. The Big Cat, otherwise known as Matt Bailey, is primed for a breakout season.

"This is my fifth year and I just want to leave a little mark, set a little something while I'm here," said the receiver, who graduated in May with a degree in Speech and Communications. "I've had some knick-knack injuries here and there that will hurt you during the season. But this year I am focusing on staying injury-free and doing what I'm supposed to do."

It's been a long road to his current position, where Bailey will be looked upon to help replace Rod Gardner. He grew up a Green Bay Packer fan in Wisconsin, and then moved to Stone Mountain, GA, after the ninth grade. He returned to the roots of his father, who played football in Georgia and still had many relatives living there. Matt had no trouble finding something to do as he participated in three sports in high school: track, basketball and football.

It seems his football activities alone would have kept him occupied. Bailey started out as a tailback but wound up playing receiver, tight end, defensive end and linebacker before his prep career ended. He also played a few snaps at safety beside his teammate Robert Carswell. Bailey had the most fun playing football and decided to follow through with the sport in college.

"Scholarships are offered in football earlier and that's really what I wanted to do," he said. "Football is more aggressive. In basketball, there's not as much contact and hitting as there is in football. And track is just too lonesome."

Bailey was wooed by Georgia, Georgia Tech, South Carolina and a few smaller schools, but decided to become a Tiger. Like most freshmen, he received a wakeup call when he got to college in the fall of 1997. He was redshirted and forced to watch the entire season from the sidelines. The rigors of class and football along with being on his own took getting used to.

"It does open your eyes to a lot of stuff because your mom doesn't have your back all the time and your on your own," he said. "All freshmen come in thinking 'I want to play, I want to do this.' But it's not really like that. A lot of your teammates have been there for a while and are older and they know the system. But as soon as everyone gets there you're ready, you're body is young and you want to just play. You're still in football mode. It didn't really hurt me or hurt my feelings, but I withstood it and I'm better for it now."

The transition was eased somewhat with the help of Carswell, his roommate and hometown friend and the camaraderie of the other freshman Tigers. The class was named the "New Breed" because it was supposed to restore the pride and tradition of Clemson football. Although he couldn't suit up on Saturdays, Bailey contributed to the team in other ways. He excelled while playing on the scout team against the likes of Anthony Simmons, Rahim Abdullah, Michael Allen, Antwan Edwards and Lorenzo Bromell.

"They used to always mess with me and call me the 'DB-killer' and one of the coaches always called me the Big Cat because I worked hard on the scout team," he said. "My eighth grade coach called me that also. I figured that if two coaches called me the Big Cat it must mean something, so I went out and got a tattoo that says Big Cat."

The Big Cat moved his way up the depth chart the next two seasons, playing in eight games in 1998 and 10 games in 1999. He had a key 20-yard catch against South Carolina in 1999 and then started in the Peach Bowl against Mississippi State, one of two starts for Bailey in 1999. He began to emerge as a solid threat for the offense in 2000 and had a breakthrough game at Virginia. With the undefeated Tigers facing their first road test of the year, Bailey started and led the receivers with four catches for 64 yards. He started the next four games until a nagging injury became serious. Bailey noticed in midseason that he could not straighten his left pinky finger. Doctors discovered that Bailey tore a tendon in the finger and he was forced to miss the last two games of the year.

"It was tough because I was doing pretty good last year until my pinky started hurting me," said, whose pinky still bends differently from the rest of the fingers on his hand. "It hurt not playing in the bowl game because I wanted to play with my buddies Rod and Justin Watts who I had been here with a long time."

Bailey used the disappointment as motivation in his offseason workouts, which have become a bigger point of emphasis. At 6-4, 220 pounds, Bailey is one of the biggest and tallest receivers in school history. He hopes to follow the footsteps of former teammate Gardner into the NFL and believes he can do so with increased performance on the field and in the weight room. He estimates that with the help of the strength training staff, he lifts four times as much weight than in 1997.

"Coach (John) Sisk has been my personal trainer

Wide receiver Matt Bailey, one of seven Clemson graduate students on this year's roster, is a veteran of 26 games, seven as a starter.

since I got here in 1997 and he has been with me through everything. He has worked hard with me. The whole staff has done a great job. I can see a lot of changes in my body and the way I do things, like being on time. They've influenced me being on time for a lot of things because if you're a minute late, the whole team is going to suffer or you're going to suffer by yourself. Either way you're going to suffer, so now I'm on time for a lot of stuff."

Just as Bailey has evolved in four years, so has Clemson football. Tommy Bowden is in his third season and his high-octane offense has helped bring the Tigers back to national prominence. The bar has been raised and the entire team is focused on making a trip to the Rose Bowl in Pasadena for the national championship game.

"That is our goal. Until it cannot be achieved, that is our goal," he said. "We definitely want to win a bowl game this year. We haven't won a bowl game since I've been here and a couple for years before us. So it is definitely time we won a bowl game. And I think our class can do it."

Louis Garmendia is a first-year graduate student from Mt. Pleasant, SC and works in the Clemson Sports Information Office.

Anthony Simmons

By Tim Bourret

This feature was supposed to appear in the 1998 Clemson vs. South Carolina program. Anthony Simmons would have been on the cover of that publication, a fitting tribute to his career as one of Clemson's greatest players, perhaps the greatest in the school's 105-year history.

But, in January of 1998, our publication plans changed, as Simmons declared his eligibility for the NFL draft. It was a disappointment to all Clemson fans, but at the same time, they understood the decision.

Simmons was ranked among the best players in the nation, earning All-America honors from Associated Press in 1995, 1996 and 1997. Had he returned for his senior year he could have become just the second four-time Associated Press All-American in college football history (North Carolina's Charley Justice from 1945-48). A 230-pounder with lightning quick speed and instincts, he was a certain first-round NFL draft selection.

"Looking back, I made a good decision," said Simmons, who is entering his fourth year with the Seattle Seahawks. "It was a tough decision, I had great years at Clemson, but I felt I was ready for the next level. I had done my research, and received opinions from people I respected. I don't recommend going pro to anyone unless you know for sure you are going to be a high draft choice. There are no guarantees past the first round. If you don't make it and come back to school you aren't on scholarship anymore."

When an emotional Simmons made his declaration in January of 1998, he was defiant in his resolve to return to Clemson and earn his degree. The media had heard that one before. But, as has been the case with everything in his life, Simmons meant business. This past summer he was backing up his word, taking classes in both sessions of summer school, remaining in Clemson until two days before training camp began.

"I made a promise to my parents that I would come back and get my degree from Clemson. It means a lot to them and it means a lot to me. I am not going to play football forever. Although I should be set financially, I want to be productive in the business world when my football career is over. You need the degree."

Simmons, who never red-shirted at Clemson, will need another semester and a summer to complete his requirements. If the Seahawks don't make the playoffs, he could be back for the spring semester of 2002. He plans to take a course at the University of Washington during the season. That is fitting since his Seattle Seahawks play at Huskie Stadium.

"Anthony's word is good," said Clemson defensive coordinator and linebacker coach Reggie Herring, who coached Simmons his entire career in Tigertown. "He made a promise to his family that he would finish his degree and become a strong alumnus of this University. It draws attention to young people that even if you have a dream of becoming an NFL player, it is still important to get your degree. I am proud of Anthony. He is a man of his word."

Having success in the NFL and his commitment to return to Clemson and get his degree is no surprise to Herring. "He sets high standards in everything he does. On the field, he came to work every day and continues that attitude in the NFL. He missed just one practice at Clemson in three years and those work habits are carrying over to the NFL. He is building a great reputation in the NFL and it is due to his work habits."

"He possesses tools that God only gives to certain people. He has always had the focus to use those tools and that is now paying off. I never had any doubts about his ability to make it in the NFL."

While Herring never had any doubts, Simmons himself might have had some during his rookie year in the NFL. A knee injury in his first preseason game as a professional slowed his progress and made his rookie year a trying experience.

"When you enter the NFL as the number-15 draft choice of the entire league you expect to have an immediate impact. I suffered a knee injury in my first preseason game and all of a sudden people were writing that I was a first-round bust. It was tough to deal with because I had never been injured in high school or at Clemson. I wasn't used to being on the sidelines. It was difficult to go through, but looking back it made me stronger. I was presented with a physical challenge for the first time and overcoming it made me stronger."

Simmons played in 11 games in 1998, four as a starter and had 41 tackles, including 31 solos. A highlight of the season was a 36-yard interception return of a Vinny Testaverde (New York Jets) pass for a touchdown. In 1999 he earned a starting position the week of the first game and started all 16 games, plus a playoff game. He more than doubled his tackle total and finished the year with 90 stops, third on the team.

Last season was a breakout campaign for Simmons. Now totally healthy (he had had offseason surgery prior to the 1999 season), the native of Spartanburg, SC led the Seahawks in tackles with 147. No other Seahawks player even had 100. The 147 tackles rank third best in team history and the figure was the fourth highest in the entire NFL in 2000. He led the Seahawks in tackles eight times, including four of the last five games.

"I felt I had a good year last season. I had played inside linebacker in 1999 and moved outside in 2000. That is a much more comfortable position for me."

The sky is the limit for Simmons in 2001. Earning a Pro Bowl selection is a goal for the linebacker who led Clemson in tackles in 1995, 1996 and 1997. The offseason acquisition of another former Clemson linebacker should make his job a lot easier. All-American Levon Kirkland, who had played eight distinguished seasons with the Pittsburgh Steelers, signed a contract with the Seahawks in the offseason and should be Simmons running mate on the second line of defense this year.

"I am really looking forward to playing with Levon. When I came to Clemson he was one of the players you heard about. He represented the Clemson linebacker tradition. Now I will be playing with him. It will be great for both of us and great for Clemson University."

It will be a great day for Clemson and for Anthony Simmons when he walks across the stage of Littlejohn Coliseum with his college degree.

Tim Bourret is in his 13th year as the Clemson Sports Information Director.

Simmons had 147 tackles in 2000, the fourth highest total in the NFL.

Strength Training

Clemson fans look forward to seeing tough, hard-nosed football when they come to Death Valley or travel to other schools to watch their Tigers in action. But some of the Tigers' most intense competition and action doesn't take place on autumn Saturday's and it doesn't take place on a field. Take a peek into the Clemson Strength Training Room at almost any time of day, almost any day of the week, at any time of the year, and you will see the Tigers building the foundation for their pursuit of a championship.

Perhaps the most impressive characteristic of the facility is its size. Several years ago, it was enlarged to an astounding 11,000 square feet, making it one of the largest in the nation. In 1998, it was expanded to 14,000 square feet. The facility boasts two full lines of Nautilus machines and over 12 tons of weights. The large number of machines and free weights allows the weight room to be used by athletes from several other sports at the same time, without anyone having to wait in line at a particular station.

Within the last two years the dumbbell area and leg development areas were expanded as well as the nutrition and hydration area known as the Power Station. The Power Station features the energy and recovery drink to aid each athlete's recovery from intense training.

The plush atmosphere provides an interesting contrast to the physical exertion that takes place in the facility. When an athlete enters the etched glass doors, he is greeted by plush, wall-to-wall carpeting, walls lined with mirrors, ceiling fans, and music from a 26-speaker sound system - a worthy backdrop for well over $500,000 worth of state-of-the-art equipment.

Color television monitors are also positioned throughout the facility. These monitors are used for training and instruction, as Tiger strength coaches film the athletes and work with them on form correction.

The large staff of four full-time strength coaches, four graduate assistants, numerous student assistants, and volunteers ensures that each football player receives proper instruction on the fundamentals of strength and speed development. Training programs at Clemson are position specific and designed to meet the needs and demands of each athlete. Also, each position is appointed a full-time strength coach that serves as a personal trainer for that particular athlete throughout his career.

Hard core training and competition in the weight room and the annual Ironman Classic will help each athlete reach optimal levels in strength and speed development. The Tiger Strength Training and Nutrition Program help each athlete to become a complete player.

Vickery Hall

Vickery Hall

Since its inception in 1991, the five-faceted Student-Athlete Enrichment Program has provided its student-athletes a continued commitment to excellence. Our approach is to address the total student-athlete, and we are committed to coaching our student-athletes to success (C.A.T.S.) not only in the athletic arena but in the academic, personal growth, career, and service arenas as well. As an original member of the NCAA Life Skills/CHAMPS Program, we provide opportunities and services to address the changing needs and skills of student-athletes in the years during college and after graduation.

C.A.T.S. Coaching Athletes To Success

Clemson University's commitment to provide its student-athletes with the very best of facilities is evident in many ways. From the soaring upper decks of Memorial Stadium, to the state-of-the-art strength training facility, young men and women from all 19 of Clemson's varsity sports have the very best in facilities for training and competition. Vickery Hall is no exception, as the $3 million structure is as impressive aesthetically as any of the other facilities. But the importance of Vickery Hall to the Clemson University Athletics Department is not found in the structure itself, but in the many programs that the building houses.

Vickery Hall opened in the spring of 1991 and was the first support facility in the country built solely for the all-around education of student-athletes. The two-story, 27,000 square-foot building is open throughout the day and into the evening to accommodate the extended schedules of student-athletes.

The mission of the Student-Athlete Enrichment Programs is to monitor, guide, and encourage student-athletes to fulfill their long-term goals, and to achieve their academic and career potential.

Vickery Hall focuses on five primary areas to meet the student-athlete's needs.

ACADEMIC COMMITMENT

The academic commitment aspect of Clemson's Student-Athlete Enrichment Programs has provided one of the best academic support and advising programs in the nation.

Clemson's student-athletes had a 2.80 GPA for the spring semester in 2001, the highest overall GPA on record. The overall student body had a 2.82, and the 0.02 margin between the student-athletes and the overall student population was the smallest differential on record. A record 28 student-athletes were named to the President's List (a perfect 4.0) and a record 97 student-athletes made the dean's list for the spring semester of 2001. Overall, 215 student-athletes had a 3.0 GPA or better, nearly 50 percent of the 441 student-athletes in the 19 varsity programs at Clemson.

A total of seven teams posted GPAs over 3.0 in the spring semester of 2001, the most in school history for a single semester. Six programs posted all-time highs for semester GPA, including the football, men's soccer, women's soccer, men's swimming, women's swimming and rowing teams.

The Clemson football team had a 2.58 team GPA in the spring, significantly ahead of the previous high of 2.49 set in the spring semester of 2000. Tommy Bowden has been the head coach at Clemson for five semesters and his team has had five of the top six semesters on record. Thirty-seven Clemson football players made the academic honor roll, the high total among Clemson teams for the semester.

The Academic Counselors perform a variety of duties to track academic progress. These duties include providing assistance in registration and priority scheduling, contacting faculty, personally checking classes, recording information, counseling sessions with student-athletes, providing diagnostic testing, and directing career aspirations.

One of the most prestigious programs that has received recognition essential to the growth of Vickery

Hall is the tutorial program.

Of the 160 programs certified by CRLA, the Clemson Student-Athlete Enrichment Program was one of the first three student-athlete programs in the country to be granted a Level 1 certification from the College of Reading and Learning Association, International Tutor Certification Program. The program was also honored with the National Champs Skills Excellence Award in 1999, one of six schools from across the country to be honored.

Having tutor certification allows student-athletes to be provided the highest quality of academic assistance possible. Approximately 80 tutors are hired to provide academic support in the many subject areas offered.

Many post-graduate scholarships and internships are also available to student-athletes continuing their education through postgraduate studies. Our student-athletes are provided timely information regarding these opportunities and the resources necessary to assist in the application process for either scholarships or internships.

The Dick Hendley Computer Lab is one of the areas of Vickery Hall that make it one of the top facilities of its kind, nationally.

Vickery Hall

The Department of Student-Athlete Enrichment Programs has recognized the need for students to have access to high-quality computing equipment and has made a commitment to provide the student-athletes at Clemson with one of the largest computer labs in the country. Located on the first floor of Vickery Hall is the Microcomputer Laboratory. The lab is open seven days a week, for 16 hours on Monday through Thursday, and a limited time on Saturday and Sunday. During exam periods the lab hours are extended.

The lab staff has a full-time computer manager, and also graduate students, many of whom are pursuing advanced degrees in computer science. Lab staff members are available for tutoring of any Computer Science course, as well as the many management, engineering, and business courses that deal with personal computers.

The Department of Student-Athlete Enrichment Programs is committed to providing state-of-the-art computing facilities. New computers have recently been purchased bringing the lab to a state of the art facility. More than 50 computers are available for student-athletes.

All computers are fully connected to the internet allowing for access of computers throughout the world for research and communication.

PERSONAL DEVELOPMENT COMMITMENT

One of the most important programs that helps student-athletes reach their full potential and engage successfully in this college experience is the Personal Growth and Development Program.

One of the key components of this program is the first-semester freshman transition class designed to assist the student-athlete in making a successful transition into his/her university and athletic life. All first-semester freshmen attend a semester-long series of workshops targeting the transitional issues of time management, organizational strategies, health and wellness issues, athletic issues, diversity issues, career orientation, and service training. Throughout the academic year, all student-athletes are required to attend four large-group programs, which focus on pertinent social, health, and athletic issues.

CAREER DEVELOPMENT COMMITMENT

The Career Assistance Program provides student-athletes an opportunity to fulfill career aspirations by participating in various career seminars offered by the staff at Vickery Hall. The philosophy of this program is to provide student-athletes with job-searching skills and strategies, internships, practical experience, and summer employment. These programs are designed to address specific career opportunities and acquire information about the student-athletes for each year.

By using the resources available to the University, Alumni Center, and the Athletic Department, the staff is working to establish a network of businesses, companies, and executives who will help assist with the Summer Employment Assistance Program. The program's main goal is to provide the student-athletes with job experience and a work history, which he or she can apply to his or her academic discipline.

The Career Assistance Program is coordinated from the academic colleges, the Placement Center, and through the Athletic Department contacts. This program is designed to better prepare the student-athlete for full-time employment and focuses on resume writing and interview techniques.

SERVICE COMMITMENT

Providing community and outreach service to student-athletes and the surrounding community by engaging the student-athletes in hands-on interactive programs is an important aspect of the Student-Athlete Enrichment Programs. The staff of SAEP coordinates various activities each year to engage student-athletes in community outreach projects along with academic programs.

Another aspect of the service commitment is that of community service. The purpose of community service is to allow the student-athletes to become involved with the happenings of the community while giving back at the same time. Each year every team is required to perform at least two community outreach projects. Recently implemented was a new community service program entitled Success Away From the Game. The purpose of this program is to combine athletes of different sports in community outreach programs. By doing this, each outreach program participates, thus creating a diverse group of athletes with new and different ideas. At the end of each year, six student-athletes who have demonstrated outstanding commitment and contributions to the community are recognized as the Top 6 by the ACC.

LIFELine, another aspect of community service, consists of chosen football players who work together in specific community outreach projects. LIFELine has approximately 20 members along with a president, vice president and secretary. Once a month, these young men meet to discuss future projects. To date, they have sponsored Hi-Five Day, planted a garden at Helping Hands Children Shelter, and held reading programs at elementary schools. These young men have vital roles in both the community and the athletic arena.

To assist our student-athletes in becoming effective service leaders and communicators we provide service and speaking training, which anticipates the demands placed on a student-athlete when he/she might be speaking with a group of young people or also speaking with the media.

ATHLETIC COMMITMENT

Under the direction of athletic director Bobby Robinson, Clemson is undoubtedly one of the elite programs of Division I athletics.

With a generous funding base from Clemson's booster organization, IPTAY, and the forward-thinking of our athletic administration, the Clemson Tigers will continue to be a dominating athletic force, not only in the ACC, but nationally as well.

Clemson was commended for its graduation rate in football by the American Football Coaches Association in 1999 and 2000. Three members of the 2000 team who celebrated graduation in May of 2001 were Terry Bryant, Rod Gardner and Jason Holloman.

CLEMSON COMEBACKS

Last year Clemson overcame a 17-point deficit to defeat North Carolina in Chapel Hill. The victory allowed Clemson to run its record to 8-0. Clemson has overcome a 10-point or larger deficit to gain a victory or tie 18 times in its history. It is interesting to note that five of the top six have taken place on the road. The Clemson record for points overcome for victory is 28, set at Virginia in 1992. It is also the ACC record involving two conference schools. Maryland holds the record for a non-conference game with a 31-point comeback victory at Miami (FL) in 1984.

Sports Year In Review

The men's basketball team defeated #1 ranked North Carolina in February, ending the nation's longest win streak at 18 games. It marked the second time in school history that Clemson had upset the nation's top-ranked team.

- The Clemson sports program had 11 teams rank in the final top 25, the university's highest number of top 25 teams since the 1991-92 academic year when a record 13 teams finished in the top 25. Overall, it tied for the third highest number of top 25 finishes in Clemson history.

- Clemson had 31 All-Americans in 2000-01, its second highest single year total on record. The 39 achieved in 1998-99 is the only figure that is higher for one year.

- The program could boast of 70 All-ACC selections, the highest total since 1989-90 when a record 82 athletes made All-ACC. The total reached in 2000-01 is the second highest total in school history.

- Clemson upset the nation's top ranked team in two different sports during the 2000-01 academic year. The Lady Tiger soccer team defeated a #1 ranked and eventual national champion North Carolina team by a 2-1 score in October at Clemson. The Clemson men's basketball team upset a #1 ranked North Carolina team that had won 18 straight games in February. It was just the third academic year in Clemson history that the school had wins over top ranked teams in two different sports.

- Clemson had another strong performance in spring sports as four teams ranked in the top 25 in the nation in their respective final polls. The golf team finished second to tie for its highest finish ever, while the women's track team was seventh, its highest outdoor track ranking. The baseball team advanced to the Super Regionals and ranked 13th in the final poll. The rowing team, in just its third year of existence, ranked 21st in the final poll.

- Clemson had at least two All-ACC performers on 14 of its 19 teams, while nine different teams had at least two All-Americans.

- Twelve of Clemson's 19 teams participated in post-season play and six different teams that compete in dual match or game competition upset at least one top 25 team.

- Clemson was one of the dominant programs in the nation when it came to soccer. Both programs ranked in the top 10 in the nation, one of just three programs nationally to make that claim. The men advanced to the Sweet 16, while the women advanced to the Elite Eight. Both teams played host to the NCAA Tournament.

- Clemson had the ACC Performer of the Year in three of the four league track meets during 2000-01. Cyndonie Mothersill was the ACC Track Performer of the year at the ACC outdoor meet, while Jamine Moton was the MVP of the indoor meet. Jacey Harper was the MVP of the Indoor track meet on the men's side.

- Three coaches in three different sports were named ACC Coach of the Year in 2000-01. The list included Susie Lueck (rowing), Bob Pollock (Indoor track) and Ray Leone (women's soccer).

IPTAY ENDOWMENT PROGRAM

IPTAY is widely regarded nationally as the father of Athletic Fundraising. It all started in 1934 and from a private meeting of a small group of Clemson supporters has sprung into an organization that raised a record $10 million last year. The organization plays a major role in ensuring that all 19 of the varsity sports at Clemson are given the maximum amount of scholarships offered by the NCAA.

The organization also has helped finance facilities that contribute to the well-being of student-athletes on and off the field. Vickery Hall is a 27,000 square foot facility that houses the tutoring and advising programs for student-athletes. It is a major reason Clemson student-athletes have had their highest cumulative GPA on record for five consecutive semesters.

While IPTAY is primarily concerned with athletic fundraising, the mission of Clemson University has not been overlooked. The IPTAY Academic Scholarship Endowment was created to help meet the need for more academic scholarships for non-athletes who are highly qualified academically. The IPTAY Academic Scholarship Fund is presently the largest scholarship endowment of its kind at Clemson, currently helping more than 40 students at Clemson.

IPTAY Executive Director George Bennett has continued to keep Clemson among the best in the nation in terms of fund-raising by the establishment of the IPTAY Endowment Program. In April of 1994, he kicked off the beginning of the endowment of positions program at the 85th birthday celebration for former Clemson Coach Frank Howard. The endowments are secure with a $100,000 donation paid over a five-year period.

"This is a chance to broaden the horizons of IPTAY," said Bennett. "It gives an individual or a group of people an opportunity to endow a position that meant something during their college days, or to honor a person at a position. The money being endowed is going to secure our future as the interest is used to carry on our program forever.

The first endowment was for the head football coach position to honor the legendary Frank Howard. Howard coached football at Clemson 39 years, 30 as the head coach. During his tenure the Tigers won 165 games, 100 of which were against conference foes. "Former players and friends of Coach Howard made donations over the cost of attending the celebration program and that was enough for the endowment. Their gifts were a way of permanently thanking Coach Howard for all that he did for Clemson.

"Following Coach Howard's birthday party we began to look for an individual to help us support and promote the program and Bill Hudson's name came up. He was an outstanding player at Clemson who has been equally successful in the business world. We went to him and explained the program and its goals and that we were looking for his leadership to help get the program going, and he accepted."

Hudson, a 1956 graduate, was a three-year letter winner at tackle who played professionally for the Montreal Alouettes, the San Diego Chargers, and the Boston Patriots. He earned Pro Bowl honors in 1962. Mr. Hudson sees this program growing into a large part of Clemson's athletic funding. "When other people see information on the endowment program and learn what it is about this program will grow. Success builds on success. People who are looking to honor a friend or family member now have a great means to do that."

Besides the Hudson's family endowment four other football endowments were made and one managers position in the first year. Now there are more than 90 positions endowed. The goal of the program is to get every position endowed. "From the free safety to the number-three player in women's tennis, we hope to have every position endowed," said Bennett.

"We will likely use the Avenue of Champions as a physical place to honor these people further for the positions they have endowed. That will have plenty of space, so we will be working to have as many endowments across all of our sports.

"The personal satisfaction that they helped Clemson University, specifically the Athletic department, and that they are securing its future are the main reasons for becoming involved."

And with more involvement Clemson will have a very secure future for generations to come.

Clemson Tiger Sports Properties

Clemson Tiger Sports Properties supplies Tiger fans with a full day of broadcasts each Clemson football Saturday. Each broadcast day has three shows, "Countdown to Kickoff," "Game Day Broadcast," and the "Football Final."

A Clemson tradition since the mid-seventies, Countdown to Kickoff is a 90-minute entertainment and interactive program produced live from the lawn at Littlejohn Coliseum at the corner closest to Death Valley. The show begins two hours prior to kickoff. Popular Greenville entertainers Love & Hudson, play host to the show that is attended by thousands of Clemson fans. Interviews, games, display items and pre-game excitement are all part of the show that has become a part of the game-day excitement at Death Valley.

The Game Day Broadcast features longtime voice of the Tigers Jim Phillips. A legendary figure in Clemson sports, Phillips is in his 34th year providing play-by-play for Clemson sports. A high percentage of Clemson fans have never heard anyone else broadcast a Clemson football game. He is one of the most respected broadcasters in the country.

Joining Phillips on the broadcast are former Clemson Hall of Fame quarterbacks Mike Eppley and Rodney Williams. Eppley was an All-ACC quarterback for the Tigers between 1980-84, while Williams led the Tigers to a record 32 victories, including bowl wins over Stanford, Penn State and Oklahoma, as a starting signal caller between 1985-88.

The Game Day broadcast begins 30 minutes prior to each game. Coach Tommy Bowden's pre-game thoughts are heard during the opening segment as well as scene setters from around the ACC and the nation. Eppley, Williams and Phillips, who have followed Clemson football for a combined 70 years also provide their pre-game analysis.

After the game, noted upstate television sports personality Pete Yanity will play host to the Football Final. Fans can hear coach Bowden as well as selected players comment on that day's game. Reports also will be presented from important games from around the ACC and the nation.

In addition to the Saturday broadcasts, fans can also follow the Tigers by listening to "Tiger Calls, a one hour program with Coach Bowden and Jim Phillips each Thursday evening. The show runs from August 30 to November 19.

UNIVERSITY

ONE MIND,
ONE SPIRIT –
ONE
CLEMSON

“One Clemson” combines two important goals on the road to becoming a top-20 public university — enhancing the library and achieving national championships in athletics. A new fund-raising initiative brings these two powerful forces together.

Few institutions are as dramatically affected by the rapid changes in information technology as libraries. Today's libraries must combine traditional books and journals with electronic information moving at the speed of cyberspace.

The other part of One Clemson — construction of an Athletic Heritage Center — will help reach another goal: winning a second national championship in football. The center will be an essential building block in establishing the Tiger football program and its recruiting as one of the nation's best.

One Clemson's target is $10 million. Sixty percent will go to the University Libraries. The other 40 percent will support the Athletic Heritage Center. Fifty percent of a gift may count toward the donor's IPTAY cumulative giving record.

To support academics and athletics with a single gift, contact the Development Office at P.O. Box 1889, Clemson, SC 29633-1889 or call 864-656-5896; contact the IPTAY Office at P.O. Box 1529, Clemson, SC 29633; or go online at www.clemson.edu/isupportcu.

Mike O'Cain

By Sanford Rogers

Two-hundred and forty-four days have passed since the Clemson Tigers last took the field against Virginia Tech in the Toyota Gator Bowl. The excitement and anticipation building towards today's kickoff against UCF is running high for players, fans and coaches.

The person who just may be the most excited of all will be wearing orange in Death Valley for the first time since 1977. Quarterback Coach Mike O'Cain, Class of 1977, is in his first season back at his alma mater in more than two decades.

"It will be a special time," said O'Cain. "When I was growing up, past the age of seven or eight, Clemson was a big part of my life. I had two older brothers who went to Clemson. My family and I would try to come to one or two games a year. As I progressed as an athlete in high school I thought I might have a chance to play college football. Clemson was the place for me."

O'Cain, a native of Orangeburg, SC, made quite an impact during his time as a student-athlete in Tigertown. A four-year letterman, he was the most valuable player of the 1976 team, handling duties at both quarterback and punter. He completed 91 of 182 passes for 1,291 yards and six touchdowns during his career at Clemson. He still ranks 14th in Clemson history in passing efficiency.

After completing his eligibility, O'Cain spent the 1977 season as a graduate assistant for the Tigers. That year Clemson ended an 18-year bowl drought with an 8-4 record and an appearance in the Gator Bowl. He then left Clemson to pursue a full-time coaching career with stops at The Citadel, Murray State, East Carolina, N.C. State and North Carolina. He served as the head coach for the Wolfpack from 1993 to 1999, taking the team to three bowl games. In 1993, he took the Pack to nine wins, still tied as the single season victory record in N.C. State history.

It was during his time as an assistant in Raleigh that O'Cain had flashbacks to his college days. "I was away from Clemson until the 1987 season when N.C. State played at Clemson. "Hearing the band play Tiger Rag and seeing the team run down the hill was special. Those are ties that you just don't lose over time."

Since returning to Clemson last December O'Cain has had the opportunity to renew old friendships and return to an environment that has always brought him comfort. "There are so many people here that were at Clemson when I was in school," recalled O'Cain. "I was in school with Bob Mahony and now he is working in IPTAY. It is really nice to renew friendships with folks that I had not seen in 25 years."

Mahony, who has served as the Associate Executive Director of IPTAY since 1989, has seen firsthand what O'Cain means to Clemson. "Mike's return is very special," said Mahony. "He brings a great deal of football knowledge, but he also brings great understanding of the history and tradition of Clemson. He has been well received by everyone."

While O'Cain was still familiar with a number of people still at Clemson, there were obvious changes to the landscape. "I guess the things that have changed the most are the size of the stadium and the student body," remembered O'Cain. "The last year I played (1976) the stadium seated around 40,000. There were no upper decks. I think the undergraduate enrollment was around 8,000."

While the campus and Death Valley have grown substantially, O'Cain can still feel the same spirit from his playing days. "The tradition at Clemson has gotten even stronger since I played. The fan support and their love for Clemson is even greater. That is one of the things that makes it such a special place."

The special feelings that O'Cain points to make it easy to understand how he made the decision to return to Clemson prior to the Gator Bowl. "I was very excited about this opportunity," said O'Cain. "I had no doubts about coming back to Clemson. It was a matter of Tommy (Bowden) being comfortable with me. I understand that you not only hire a good football coach, you hire someone who fits with the staff you have in place."

When Bowden was looking to fill the quarterback coaching position vacated when Rich Rodriguez left for West Virginia, O'Cain was an obvious choice. "Mike O'Cain brings a great deal of experience to our staff," said Bowden. "He has been a offensive coordinator and a head coach in this conference. His experience will allow us do some different things with our offense. He also has strong ties to Clemson; he played here and graduated from here, so that made it even more appealing."

The timing of Rodriguez's departure allowed O'Cain to serve in advisory capacity for the Gator Bowl. That experience in December was time well spent for several reasons. "Being around the program in December was a tremendous advantage," said O'Cain. "I was able to be around the staff as they were preparing a game plan. It is nice to have gone through planning for a game before this season starts."

O'Cain was also able to get to know the players he would be coaching in the spring of 2001. "When conditioning drills rolled around, I didn't have to introduce myself," said O'Cain. "When I was in the weight room they knew who I was and I knew who they were. That helped the transition immensely."

In an ironic twist, there is one player who O'Cain knew before his arrival. As Clemson quarterbacks coach he will be tutoring Heisman Trophy candidate Woodrow Dantzler. Dantzler, like O'Cain, is a native of Orangeburg and attended Orangeburg-Wilkinson High.

"When I was at North Carolina State we recruited Woodrow," remembered O'Cain. "We thought very early in the process that he was going to attend Clemson or South Carolina so we didn't spend a great deal of time with him. But our staff knew what kind of potential Woody had."

"It is special to coach someone from your hometown and from your high school. But it is even more rewarding because of the kind of person he is. A lot of people just see Woody as the guy who wears #1 and makes things happen on the field. But the thing that impresses me the most is the type of person he is. The way he conducts himself and gives of his time is what makes him such a special person."

While O'Cain was adjusting to new coaches and players, he was also preparing for change of pace for he and his family. His wife Nancy and daughters Jenny (16) and Lizzy (14) stayed in Raleigh until school ended in late May.

"We had lived in Raleigh for 15 years, that is a long time," said O'Cain. "Our daughters had lived in the same house and had the same friends for their entire lives, so that was certainly a change for them. But, there are many athletic staff and coaching families that are the same age. That will make it a little easier for them."

O'Cain and his family are already adjusting and enjoying the slower pace of a small town. "Clemson is a great place to live," said O'Cain. Growing up in a small town makes you appreciate the pace and quality of life." O'Cain's small-town Orangeburg roots make it easy to understand how two of his hobbies, hunting and photography, are two things he enjoys during the off-season. "I love to spend quiet time outside," said O'Cain. "Hunting and taking pictures require a great deal of patience. You just can't rush a sunset or hurry a turkey into a clearing. The coaching profession is a hectic one, so those things kind of force me to relax and slow down."

Sanford Rogers worked in the Clemson Sports Information Office as a student assistant from 1990-93 and currently serves on the stat crew.

Mike O'Cain, the Clemson quarterback in 1974-76, returns to Tigertown in 2001 as quarterback coach.

Men's Soccer

By Jacob Barker and Sam Blackman

This season, the pieces are there. The experience (eight returning starters), talent and enthusiasm are in the Clemson camp. The main concern for Head Coach Trevor Adair is the leadership that is needed to put these pieces together.

"The big component that we need going into preseason is leadership," said Clemson Head Coach Trevor Adair. "We lost quality leadership last year in Mike Potempa and Mark Lisi, and it is also going to be difficult to replace all of our other seniors from last season. We need our veterans to step up and provide the necessary leadership for a successful season. We have eight starters back and we have the same expectations this year as we always do, and that is to be one of the top teams in the nation and compete for the conference and national championship.

"The potential is there," Adair added. "For instance, Kevin Conaway, (a fifth-year senior) has been through adversity with injuries and he gives the team a good boost in leading by example. Ross Goodacre and Ian Fuller (senior) should be sliding into leadership roles as well. They have good work ethics on and off the field, and can handle adversity. They have matured as players and as people."

Going into the season, Adair is also concerned about scoring goals and finishing offensive chances. "We are hoping that incoming players will help solve that problem. Dimelon Westfield had 69 goals in two seasons and was a junior college All-American at Young Harris Junior College. We look for him to come in and help give us offensive punch and put away the chances. He is an experienced player with two years of collegiate experience."

With 16 lettermen returning, Clemson will be a deep team. The Tigers finished the season with a 14-4-2 overall record and a 3-3 mark in the ACC. In addition to their outstanding record, the Tigers finished last season ranked in the top 10 in the final polls. Clemson also earned a number two seed in the NCAA Tournament.

"I feel from top to bottom, we have great depth and this will enhance the competition for playing time. We have the most depth we have ever had since I came to Clemson. There is not much difference from players 1-24. A guy could come in as a freshman and could work his way into the lineup. The competition for spots obviously will be the most competitive we have had. We will also need to develop the mental capacity to handle the ups and downs that a season can bring."

The schedule will be one of the toughest nationally again. Aside from the ACC schools, the Tigers have California, Davidson, Cal State-Fullerton, South Carolina, Furman, Virginia Commonwealth, Florida International, and Notre Dame highlighting the non-conference list. At the end of the season, Clemson will host the ACC Tournament.

"Once again the schedule will be tough-probably one of the top three toughest in the nation. We have a hard regional and national schedule. We are excited to have the ACC Tournament at Clemson and we are grateful for the support of our administration. Having the ACC Tournament here is a bonus to our season. We should be a team that will be contending for the championship."

Clemson has two experienced goalkeepers, Doug Warren (junior) and Patrick Fullerton (junior), returning. The newcomers include red-shirt freshman Martin Hutton and true freshman Hunter Gilstrap. Warren, who played with the Under-20 National Team last summer, started all 20 matches for the Tigers last season. He had a 1.19 goal allowed average and 77 saves. He also had four solo shutouts. Fullerton saw action in three games and combined with Warren for two shutouts.

"We are in a good situation and there will be a lot of competition. Warren is back as the starter and Fullerton had a great spring. All four players are solid and the competition will force all the goalkeepers to be at their best. They each have their different strengths and the starter who emerges from the group will have earned the spot."

A strong area for Clemson is the defense. The starters returning include Oguchi Onyewu (sophomore) and Eric "Ricky" Lewis (sophomore). Other veterans who will see action in the back include Kevin Conaway (senior) and Chase Hilgenbrinck (sophomore). Onyewu and Lewis played on the U.S. Under-20 National Team this past summer. Last season, Onyewu had five goals and five assists for 15 points. Lewis had three goals and four assists for 10 points.

"Our backs don't miss much. For a team to be successful against us they will have to build through us. Because of our speed and quickness they should not be able to go directly up the middle. We should dominate on defense and win a lot of balls in the back. Nick Rivera (sophomore) had a good spring in the back and could play there this fall. Our defense will be a definite strength for us. If we don't get stretched out, we will be hard to score on. On paper, this is the best collection of defenders we have ever had."

The midfield returns Ross Goodacre (senior), Kenneth Cutler (sophomore), Oskar Bringsved (sophomore), and Paul Souders (sophomore). Goodacre had three goals and nine assists last season for 15 points. Cutler started 17 matches and had one goal and four assists for six points. Bringsved started all 20 matches and had one goal and one assist.

"We have many options in the midfield. We are looking for good distribution from the midfield and players who can control the tempo of the game."

"Oskar had a good fall and plays his role effectively. You can rely on him for all 90 minutes. Cutler gained valuable experience on the Under-20 National team. Nick is a good link from the midfield to the forwards. Paul Souders worked well with Oskar in the midfield this past spring and will see more playing time this fall."

Freshman Brad Gibson may play immediately as a left sided player. Lewis, Goodacre, Fabio Tambosi (junior), and Steven Rhyne (sophomore), may also see action in the midfield.

Fabio Tambosi was selected first-team All-ACC last season and was second on the team with 33 points.

Clemson has an All-ACC player in Tambosi, and Ian Fuller returning as starters. Tambosi had 14 goals and five assists last season for 33 points, which was the second highest total on the team. Fuller finished the season with three goals and eight assists for 14 points. Fuller started 11 matches and saw action in 15 after suffering injury.

"Ian Fuller is excellent with his back to the goal. What he lacks in pace, he has in understanding. Steven Rhyne (sophomore) had a very good freshman year and he is quickly developing into a dynamic goal scorer. Tambosi is a skilled player and should see a great deal of action up front and in the midfield. He shows up everywhere on the field. I am also looking for valuable minutes from Andre Borges (sophomore) this season after a solid freshman campaign last year."

Freshmen players Dimelon Westfield and Paul Kosolov will add depth to the forward position. "This season, we have a lot of options. We have players who can score goals and create opportunities. We have many different combinations and we have the players to play our style. We lacked a finisher last year that could tuck away the chances we created. What hurt us last year were injuries. Mark Lisi did a great job carrying us with his 15 goals and eight assists. This season the depth will be greater and we will have more goal scorers."

Jacob Barker is a graduate assistant in the Clemson SID Office and is from Clemson, SC. Sam Blackman is the Clemson Associate Sports Information Dir.

Women's Soccer

By Jacob Barker and Sam Blackman

Building on the success of the past.

This is the goal of the Clemson women's soccer team this season as Todd Bramble takes over the reins as head coach of the Clemson women's soccer program, recognized as one of the elite programs in the nation. What's so encouraging is the Lady Tigers have been to seven NCAA Soccer Tournaments in the program's seven years of existence. Last year's team had a school record 19 wins with three losses and one tie. The Lady Tigers have also been to the NCAA Final Eight three of the last four seasons.

"There is no doubt that we will try to build on the success that the team had last year and in the program's past seven seasons," said Bramble. "Clemson had a great season last year winning the ACC regular season Championship and receiving a top-four seed in the NCAA Tournament.

"Our goals are very similar to those of any top program in the country. We will strive to win the ACC regular season, the ACC Tournament and receive a top seed in the NCAA Tournament and win the National Championship. These goals may seem lofty, but I want athletes who set huge goals and who are prepared to do what it takes to achieve them."

Clemson returns eight starters and 20 letterwinners from last year's team. The 2000 team won the ACC regular season with a 5-1-1 record, the first ACC title in Clemson women's soccer history. Both the overall total of wins (19) and ACC wins (5) are school records.

"One of the major strengths of this year's team will be the same as last year—the attacking players. Our attacking players are extremely potent and everyone is back. Another strength is our experience and senior leadership especially from the goal in Katie Carson."

The Lady Tigers did lose key players Nancy and Julie Augustyniak, and Lea Shreve in the back and midfield. The Augustyniaks were four-year starters, while Shreve was a three-year starter.

"We will have to find players who can step-up and fill the holes that last year's players left. A key will be how quickly our new players can gel and have an understanding what to do in the back.

"We will be a possession oriented, dynamic, attacking, team. With the experienced talent that we have and the depth that we have to support that great talent, we should be a dangerous team. This spring, we made a lot of progress and learned some new philosophies offensively and defensively."

Clemson will make its only regular-season tournament appearance at the University of San Diego Sept. 21-23, when they will play UCLA and San Diego. The Lady Tigers will play 10 home matches including ACC foes Florida State, Virginia, Duke and N.C. State. Clemson will also play host to South Carolina Oct. 2. Clemson will play at Florida on Nov. 3, before playing in the ACC Tournament Nov. 8-11 at Winston-Salem, NC.

Goalkeepers

First-team All-ACC performer, Katie Carson (senior) is back. A three-year starter, she started 23 games for the Lady Tigers last season and gave up only 14 goals for a 0.63 goal allowed average. She also had 59 saves in 2,004 minutes. Leigh Ann Harrison (sophomore) is also back. She saw action in three games and finished the season with a 1.75 goal allowed average.

"Katie Cason is the incumbent goalkeeper. She made tremendous progress through the year. Her game continues to improve. Her skills from the back are a commanding presence in the box. Her range of both shot stopping and crosses are very good. Her overall ability in the goal makes her one of the elite goalkeepers in the country."

Defenders

Clemson was hit hard in this position due to graduation. However Clemson has two starters returning in Leigh Clark (senior) and Alison Sinclair (sophomore). Clark started all 23 matches last season and Sinclair started 18 matches as a freshman.

"Audria Lyons (junior), and Cindy Mullinix (junior), played in the middle this past spring." Freshmen Jenny Anderson and Sarah Turner will also be competing for spots in the middle.

"The outside back positions are up for grabs. Leigh Clark and Kate Clifton (sophomore) will probably play on the left. On the right, Louisa Boyle (senior), Tonya Peterson (sophomore), and Alison Sinclair (sophomore) will be competing hard for playing time.

"There are no incumbent starters in the back coming into preseason, and there are eight or nine good players vying for three or four spots in the lineup. Needless to say, the competition will be fierce and the players who make the most of their summer and report to preseason in the best form will have the edge. Irrespective of who starts, we will be solid in the back and have good depth in this area.

"Allison Mitchell is expected to be our defensive midfielder and Tricia Williams has the most experience of our returning players. Tatum Clowney and Rachel Gallegos are quality midfield players and incoming freshman Paige Ledford will be looked at some in the midfield as well as up front. The combination of these players who work the best together and within the framework of our team will make the starting lineup. The others will play extremely important supporting roles as substitutes."

Midfielders

Clemson has two returning starters in the midfield this season in Allison Mitchell (sophomore), and Tricia Williams (senior). Mitchell had three goals and two assists for eight points. Tricia Williams also started all 23 matches and finished the season with two assists.

"Tatum (Clowney) and Rachel (Gallegos) both had great spring seasons and will be pushing to get into the starting lineup. Clowney was the Lady Tigers' fourth leading scorer with three goals and four assists for 10 points. Gallegos played in eight matches last season. Paige Ledford is an incoming freshman who should compete for playing time as well. We are looking for good players who have the ability to link the back to the forwards and have the technical ability to hold the ball in the midfield and set up the attack with good vision and passing. We have depth and experience in the midfield. The work rate is good on both sides of the ball."

Forwards

Clemson has three starters coming back up front in Lindsay Browne (sophomore), Deliah Arrington (junior), and Heather Beem (junior). Browne was named Soccer America's National Freshman of the year. She was also named ACC Freshman of the Year and led the Lady Tigers in scoring with 13 goals and 12 assists for 38 points. Arrington had 12 points and 10 assists for 34 points and was the team's second leading scorer in 2000. Arrington was also named first team All-ACC. Beem was Clemson's third leading scorer with six goals and two assists for 14 points. She also started 10 matches last season.

"We have three starters returning who had great seasons last year and who had excellent springs. We have a nice mix of players with pure speed and quickness who are lethal in and around the 18-yard box. They have a willingness to learn and have a great work ethic. I only see us getting better in this area and becoming a more difficult team to defend."

SHAKIN' THE SOUTHLAND

CLEMSON UNIVERSITY TIGER BAND

Dr. Mark Hosler - Director

Tiger Mania is hitting Death Valley once again with the Clemson Tigers opening the 2001 season against the UCF Golden Knights. Just as the football team and coaches have been preparing during the past several months, the Tiger Band has also been getting ready for the opening game, with many rehearsals of the music and formations.

Since the 1950's, Tiger Band has entertained millions of Clemson fans. The "Band that Shakes the Southland" is one of the few bands that entertain fans at both home and away games.

Today's festivities will begin with Clemson's traditional pregame agenda. The program opens with the popular "Orange Bowl March," in which the band spells the famous script "Tigers." While getting into position the tune is changed to the crowd favorite, "Tiger Rag."

This leads into the traditional dotting of the "i" in the spelling of Tigers. Dotting the "i" today is Mr. John Holcombe, the current President of IPTAY. Mr. Holcombe, a retired auto dealer from Myrtle Beach, SC, has been a member of IPTAY for 57 years. At the age of five, Holcombe attended his first Clemson vs. South Carolina football game. Since then, he has not missed the rivalry game between the two teams. Mr. Holcombe has attended 56 straight Clemson/South Carolina football games and is looking forward to attending his 57th during this football season. Joining Holcombe today is his wife Jullia LaBruce Holcombe. He and his wife have three daughters and five grandchildren.

The Tiger Band will conclude the pre-game show with the playing of "Washington Post," "God Bless America," the "Star-Spangled Banner," and the Clemson University Alma Mater. Finally, the Tiger band will prepare for "the most exciting twenty-five seconds in college football." While waiting for the buses to arrive with the football team, the Tiger Band forms a tunnel for the team to pass through as they run down the hill. While the team rubs Howard's Rock and rushes down the hill in front of thousands of fans, the band will play the "Orange Bowl March" and "Tiger Rag."

Today the Tiger Band kicks off the 2001 season with a show title Shakin' the Southland. Music selections will include rock favorites "Any Way You Want it" by Journey, "Long Train Runnin'" the Doobie Brothers, "Jump" by Van Halen, and "Long Time" by Boston. Also today, the Tiger Band welcomes over 70 new members to the ranks and wishes them good luck in their first performance in Death Valley.

Remember that you can take home the sounds of Tiger Band by purchasing the group's recently released CD "Shakin' the Southland." The CD features 30 famous Tiger fan favorites from the 1999 and 2000 football seasons. It includes "Sock It To 'Em," "Eye of the Tiger," and the Clemson Alma Mater. The CD is available at the Tiger Band Office (119 Brooks Center) for $15. To order by mail send a check (payable to CUTBA) for $17 ($15 plus $2 for shipping and handling) to: CUTBA c/o Clemson Tiger Band, 119 Brooks Center, Clemson, SC 29634-1505.

2001 Football Schedule

Eight teams who had winning records in the 2000 regular season will be on Clemson's 2001 football schedule. For the first time since 1979, Clemson will play its first four games at home. Clemson will play six games at home overall, just two after Sept. 23. Clemson had seven games at home last year when it had a 9-2 regular season, its best regular season since 1991.

Clemson will open the season with Central Florida on Sept. 1 at Death Valley. This will be the first meeting between the two schools on the football field. Central Florida had a 7-4 record in 2000, including a 40-38 victory at Alabama. They opened last season with a narrow 21-17 loss at Georgia Tech, another ACC team with a 9-2 record in 2000.

Wofford will be Clemson's second game of the season on Sept. 8. The Terriers replace Tulane, who was originally announced on the schedule in December of 2000. Tulane informed Clemson in January that it would not honor its contract to play at Memorial Stadium on Oct. 6, 2001. "We wish to thank Wofford for making late changes in their schedule and helping us with a difficult situation," said Robinson. "They have a winning program that is making great strides under Coach Mike Ayers."

The Terriers had a 7-4 record last year and were ranked 23rd in the final Division I-AA poll. Among the victories was a 24-6 triumph over Louisiana-Monroe, a Division I-A team. Clemson will return 11 starters and 52 lettermen from its 9-3 squad of 2000.

This will be the 13th meeting between Clemson and Wofford, the first since 1981. A similar circumstance led to that contest 20 years. In April of 1981, Villanova decided to drop football. When Clemson needed an 11th game, Wofford, then an NAIA school, was added to the schedule.

Clemson won that contest 45-10, but trailed 3-0 at the end of the first quarter.

Clemson went on to win the National Championship. Prior to 1981 the two teams had not met since 1940, a 26-0 victory at Clemson under first-year head coach Frank Howard. The first meeting dates to 1896, the first year and third game in Clemson football history. Clemson won that contest 16-0.

South Carolina rounds out the non-conference agenda in 2001, as Clemson will travel to Columbia for the 99th meeting between the two schools on November 17th. Clemson has won four games in a row in the series and has not lost in Columbia since 1987.

Clemson will begin its ACC schedule on Sept. 15 against Duke. Virginia comes to Clemson on Sept. 22 under Al Groh, who will bring his second team to Death Valley. He brought Wake Forest to Clemson 20 years ago. Former Clemson great Terry Kinard will be honored on this day for his December induction into the College Football Hall of Fame.

Clemson's first road game of the season will be at Georgia Tech on Sept. 29. The Yellow Jackets have beaten Clemson four consecutive years by exactly three points. After an open date on Oct. 6, Clemson will travel to N.C. State for a meeting of 2000 bowl teams. The annual homecoming game will be held on Oct. 20 and the Tigers will meet North Carolina on that date. Clemson has won each of the last two games with the Tar Heels.

After the Oct. 27 game at Wake Forest, the Tigers will meet Florida State in Death Valley on Nov. 3. Bobby Bowden has won each of the first two meetings of father and son coaches. That will be Clemson's home finale, the final game in Death Valley for 2001 seniors Woodrow Dantzler, Travis Zachery, Charles Haffley, Kyle Young, Will Merritt and Chad Carson among others. Clemson will also celebrate the 20-year anniversary of the 1981

National Championship on this day.

Clemson concludes the ACC schedule at Maryland on Nov. 10, a team Clemson has beaten eight years in a row. The regular season concludes in Columbia with the aforementioned game with South Carolina.

The first three home games of the season are slated for a 1:00 PM kickoff. The remaining start times will be released 12 days prior to kickoff.

Clemson opens the season with four consecutive home games, a first for the Tigers since 1979.

1951 Clemson Tigers

By Brent Breedin

Much will be written about Clemson's 1981 National Championship season this year, as it celebrates its 20th anniversary. The contributions of Clemson's 1951 team won't be forgotten either and they will be honored prior to today's game. Brent Breedin, who covered the 1951 Tigers for the Anderson Daily Mail, takes us back 50 years to review the great accomplishments of Frank Howard's top-20 team.

—Editor

Clemson's 1951 football team is special for many reasons. Not only did it finish the season ranked among the top 20 teams in the nation, but it ended the year in the Gator Bowl, quite an accomplishment in those days considering there were only five bowl games played. It was a team that established records on an individual and team basis that still stand 50 years later.

On reflection, the most special aspect of the 1951 team was the harmonious manner in which five veteran coaches and the remnants of Clemson's first "top ten" team worked together to integrate 13 new "starters" into the well-oiled offensive and defensive "machines" of 1950 and barely missed a beat in the process.

Toughest job of all was the task facing offensive backfield coach Covington (Goat) McMillan. The "dream backfield" of tailback Jackie Calvert, wingback Ray Mathews, fullback Fred Cone, and blocking back Dick Hendley (grandfather of Clemson All-America golfer Lucas Glover) was gone—Mathews, Cone, and Hendley to the NFL. Only the tailback position was set, with Billy Hair, MVP in the Orange Bowl win over Miami, seemingly the equal of Clemson's best of the past.

To fill the wingback slot, McMillan persuaded the parents of brilliant Rock Hill back Buck George of the Catawba Indians to move in with him for his final semester of high school and to work out in the spring with the Clemson varsity. (Because of the Korean War, the NCAA okayed the use of freshmen in varsity play once again.)

At blocking back, Coach Frank Howard ultimately decided to move reserve offensive guard George Rodgers to that position. And at fullback, the job was divided between 220-pound junior Jim Shirley, who had seen limited action in 1950, and sophomore Lawrence Gressette, now the chairman of the Clemson Board of Trustees.

End Coach Bob Jones lost Bob Hudson to the NFL, Jim Calvert to polio in the summer, and Dreher Gaskin to a broken leg in the Presbyterian opener. Returning was the versatile Glenn Smith, but lightly used reserves Otis Kempson on offense and Frank Gentry and George Withers had to mature in a hurry.

Defensive Backfield Coach Russ Cohen lost veteran defensive signal-caller and All-South line-backer Wyndie Wyndham to graduation along with cornerback Gil Rushton, who still comes to Clemson games today evaluating officials for the ACC. The veteran Don Wade took over Wyndham's defensive signal-calling in teaming with newcomer Jimmy Quarles at linebacker; reserve Archie Baker joined Knobby Knoebel at corner; and Peter Cook took full command of the safety position after having shared it with talented Jackie Calvert in 1950.

And Frank Howard, who was his own line coach, had to find replacements for tackle Dick Gillespie and center Jack Brunson on offense and guard Sterling Smith and tackle Billy Grigsby on defense. Smith had made the play of the year 1950, tackling a Miami (FL) runner in the endzone for a safety in the final minutes of the 15-14 Orange Bowl victory.

Joe (Bogie) Bryant was selected to anchor the offensive line with Gary Byrd (no relation to the current Clemson offensive lineman by the same name) joining the veteran Jack Mooneyhan at tackle and Pete Manos and Dan DiMucci at the guards. In defensive line, Howard selected Earl WRIGHTENBERRY to join Bob Patton at tackle and Tom (Black Cat) Barton to team with Barclay Crawford at guard.

Clemson's schedule opener against Presbyterian College enabled the new Tiger backfield to demonstrate its mastery of the single wing with a 53-6 victory via 532 yards total offense, fifth most in school history at the time. Tailback Hair had his first of three "double hundred games"—174 yards rushing in 14 attempts and 123 yards through the air on just five completions. Fullback Shirley blasted his way to 99 yards in 14 carries; and Gressette, in his first varsity game, added 110 yards in 10 tries.

Now four road games would follow against the "big boys." The big test would be at Rice University in its year-old 70,000-seat stadium. The game itself was a gift of sorts from former Clemson Coach Jess Neely of Rice to his friend and former assistant Frank Howard.

The payoff would be bigger than in 1949 when they met in Rice's old 37,000-seat stadium. On that occasion the Tigers were clobbered 33-7, with Neely's Owls going on to finish number five in the nation and justify a new stadium. Howard motivated his team in many ways, including housing them in "the world's swankiest new hotel"—The Shamrock, near the Rice campus.

The relatively green Tigers did their homework to such an extent that one Rice player, frustrated at his failure to keep "Black Cat" Barton out of his team's backfield, mumbled, "You seem to know every move I make," to which Barton responded, "Son, I know what you had for breakfast this morning."

A unique occurrence in the game was Clemson's linebacker play. Wade, who quarterbacked the defense, was on crutches Friday morning when the team flew from Anderson to Houston. Coach Cohen insisted that he make the trip because of his knowledge; then, he insisted that he play. "I'm probably the only linebacker in history who played an entire game without making a tackle," Wade recalled after the game. Cohen verified the fact after studying the film.

However, Wade set up the defenses and colleague Quarles' super effort—including a 90-yard pass interception return for a touchdown—were instrumental in a Tiger, 20-14 upset win. Knoebel intercepted a pass at the endzone as time ran out for the Owls. On offense, Hair was in and out of the game with injuries but finished with 221 yards total offense—137 passing and 84 rushing—reminding Neely of his former Tiger tailback, Banks McFadden.

North Carolina State in Raleigh didn't figure to be a major hurdle. A win or tie would set a new Clemson record of 16 consecutive games without a loss. The Tiger defense held State to five first downs, mostly on future NFL Hall-of-Famer Alex Webster's running, and two pass completions in 12 attempts. Still, with only a 6-0 lead, courtesy of end Glenn Smith's great catch of Hair's 23-yard bullet pass to climax a 75-yard drive at the start of the second half, the contest was in doubt to the very end. It was fullback Shirley's finest hour, as he carried the ball a record 36 times for 133 yards in keeping the ball out of State's hands much of the night.

The next week Clemson traveled across the country, roughly eight hours by air, on a Friday to oppose a College of Pacific team that finished number 10 in the nation in 1949 behind a little magi-

Howard's 1951 team intercepted 25 passes, still a school single-season record.

1951 Clemson Tigers

cian-like quarterback now in his second year with the Washington Redskins, Eddie LeBaron. In place of LeBaron, Pacific had two future NFL running backs, Eddie Macon and Tom McCormick, a pumped-up defense, and a real live Bengal tiger (caged) on the sidelines.

With several Clemson players trying to overcome air-sickness from Friday, Howard's boys looked sluggish from the start. Despite bravely shutting down a pair of serious first half scoring threats by the home team, the South Carolina Tigers fell short in the second half and gave up three TDs, losing 21-7. The only Clemson score was a 30-yard pass from Bob Paredes, subbing for an injured Hair in the final quarter, to end Kempson.

Even with the next weekend off, leading into Big Thursday, Howard wasn't able to overcome traditional foe South Carolina. The Tigers' superb defense was trumped by the Gamecocks, with defensive back Billy Stephens playing the game of a lifetime. He returned a first quarter Hair punt 74 yards for the first touchdown after earlier having stopped a Tiger drive with a fumble recovery. In all, Clemson had seven turnovers—three fumbles and four passes intercepted. A fumble recovery on the Tiger 25 by freshman linebacker Leon Cunningham in the final two minutes of the half resulted in a second USC touchdown, and linebacker Harry Jabbusch turned his second interception of a Tiger pass into a 14-yard, fourth-quarter romp to clinch a 20-0 victory. It was Clemson's first shutout loss in four years.

Now with three home games and a visit to nearby Furman on the agenda, the downtrodden Tigers would attempt to revive an offense that had scored but two touchdowns in the past three games—and one of them in the final seconds of a lost cause. Under new Coach Tom Rogers, the Deacons were coming to town with a 5-1 record, including decisive wins over North Carolina, N.C. State, and Boston College. They led the Southern Conference in total offense and total defense and were a two-touchdown favorite.

And then a funny thing happened as "Bohunk"

Coach Bob Smith (former Furman head coach and athletic director) began studying film of Wake's games. Deacon quarterback star Dickie Davis inadvertently moved his left foot before the ball was snapped whenever he was going to pass. With this knowledge, the Tiger defense smothered the Wake offense. Meanwhile, the Clemson offense came to life behind another "double hundred" performance by Hair—102 yards on the ground, including a 43-yard TD romp, and 142 yards through the air, including a 16-yard scoring pass to Smith.

Boston College, making its second visit to Clemson in three years, lost this time, 21-2. Billy Hair led the way, completing two touchdown passes to Glenn Smith—one for 23 yards in the end zone and the second barely across the line of scrimmage to set the stage for a 41-yard Smith romp—and scored himself from the one. The visitors dominated play in the final quarter, but failed to sustain a drive, thanks in part to three Tiger interceptions.

Traditional rival Furman, a genuine Tiger nemesis in the 1920s and 1930s when it compiled a 10-7-3 series mark, fell short for the ninth straight time to a Howard-coached team, 34-14, this time before an overflowing, hopeful homecoming crowd. Wingback Buck George broke their hearts on Clemson's first offensive play of the second half with a 90-yard scamper to offset a fine Furman punt that dropped dead on the Tiger 10. With placekicker Charlie Radcliff converting for the third time, Clemson moved in front, 21-7, and was on its way to victory number six. George and Gressette dominated the offense, each scoring two TDs in compiling rushing totals of 134 and 114, respectively.

For the third time in four years, Auburn appeared to be the only obstacle between Clemson and a bowl invite. A 7-6 win in Mobile in 1948 gave Clemson a 10-0 record, a number 10 AP ranking, and a Gator Bowl invitation (issued a week later following a 20-0 win over The Citadel). A year ago at Auburn, Orange Bowl officials wanted a 40-point Clemson victory to justify an invitation, and Howard's team, wearing "long johns" under their uniforms to keep warm in freezing weather, prevailed, 41-0, to complete an unbeaten season and finish #10 in the AP voting. This year Gator Bowl officials wanted another lop-sided victory to justify inviting Clemson in view of its two mid-season losses.

With only a 6-0 lead entering the fourth period, the home team exploded, scoring four touchdowns behind the amazing offensive play of Hair, Smith, Gressette and Co. and a 56-yard interception return by Archie Baker for the final score. Hair had his third "double 100" of the year with 113 yards and a touchdown on the ground and 184 yards passing and two TDs through the air to Smith; Gressette gained 177 yards rushing and scored once; and Smith, who threw several key blocks on long Clemson runs and played half the game on defense, was named the nation's "Lineman of the Week" by the Associated Press, the first national award of its kind for a Clemson player. The 34-0 win brought the bowl invite.

Defying the presidents of Southern Conference colleges in accepting a bowl bid, Clemson was faced by a strong Miami team seeking vengeance for its loss in the Orange Bowl a year earlier. The Tigers outplayed the Hurricane in virtually every statistical category but the score, losing 14-0. A one-man gang named Jim Dooley was the problem. His four interceptions of Hair passes and key tackles stopped Clemson all afternoon. It remains a national record for interceptions in a bowl game.

The bowl loss was Clemson's first ever; still, the season had been a remarkable one. Billy Hair's sixth place finish in total offense in the nation with 1579 yards set the stage for a possible Heisman Trophy push in 1952; Glenn Smith's seven TD receptions to go with 11 caught in 1949-50 remains a Clemson record, as do Tigers' 25 pass interceptions that helped Clemson shut out all 10 opponents from scoring through the air. No Clemson defense has gone an entire season without allowing a touchdown pass since.

Billy Hair had Dantzler-like numbers as a single wing tailback. Three times he had more than 100 yards rushing and more than 100 passing in the same game in 1951.

The Last Word

By Tim Bourret

The sports world has a fascination with triples. I don't just mean a three-base hit in baseball, or a triple-double in basketball. I mean reaching a certain level of accomplishment in three different areas at the same time.

Rod Gardner achieved a rare triple during the 2000-01 academic year. He became just the sixth football player in Clemson history to earn All-America honors on the field, be selected in the first round of the NFL draft and earn an undergraduate degree, all in the same year. He was the first to do all three in one year since Steve Fuller in the 1978-79 academic year.

For this accomplishment and many others that brought great joy to Clemson fans around the world, Gardner will be honored in absentia today as the 2000-01 IPTAY Athlete of the Year. The award is sponsored by former executive Secretary of IPTAY Gene Willimon, who passed away just prior to the 2000 season.

Don't get me wrong, Gardner would love to be with us today. But, he has a new job that pays him a large sum of money as a wide receiver with the Washington Redskins and that will keep him away from Death Valley this afternoon. We will miss him!

Rod Gardner came to Clemson as a high school quarterback from Jacksonville, FL in the fall of 1996. He was not the most highly recruited player in Florida, far from it in fact. But, Clemson has had good fortune when it comes to recruits from the Sunshine State. Of the 39 signees Clemson had from Florida between 1982-97, 25 went on to become starters, 10 of which have gone on to play in the NFL.

Gardner enhanced those statistics and probably left his mark on the Clemson program to a higher degree than all his fellow signees from the Sunshine state. In his four years at Clemson, Gardner set 11 school records, including most receptions in a career (166) most receptions in a season (80 in 1999) and most reception yards in a season (1084). In fact, he is the only receiver in Clemson history to eclipse the 1000-yard mark and he did it twice.

But, aside from the records, it was Gardner's flamboyant, confident style and his ability to deliver big plays in the clutch that set him apart. How many times did he go up in a crowd and come down with the ball on a long throw from either Nealon Greene, Brandon Streeter or Woodrow Dantzler. Those three quarterbacks all rank in the top seven in Clemson history in passing yardage. Gardner had a lot to do with their success.

Gardner's most memorable heroics came against South Carolina in 1999 and 2000, and his achievements in those games are the prime reason he ranks among the most popular players in Clemson history. If he didn't make any other receptions, he earned his entire four years of scholarship payment in those two games.

In the 1999 contest in Columbia, Gardner caught six passes for 138 yards and two touchdowns. His game-clinching 29-yard catch from Woodrow Dantzler on a fourth-down play with just 6:41 remaining broke the hearts of the South Carolina faithful.

Gardner trumped those accomplishments in his final home game in Death Valley. He had four receptions for 107 yards (he is the only Tiger to have a pair of 100-yard receiving games against the Gamecocks), including a 50-yard catch among three Gamecock defensive backs with just 10 seconds remaining. That reception set up Aaron Hunt's game winning 25-yard field goal with just three seconds remaining.

"When you think about all the big plays we have had on offense over the last two years, Rod Gardner was involved in just about all of them," recalled Head Coach Tommy Bowden last spring. "When people ask me about players we must replace to get back to the top 15 this year, he is obviously the first person everyone thinks of."

"He had a certain mystique about him when it came to performing in the clutch. We all looked to him to come through, the opposition knew we would come to him, yet he still made the plays. He will be hard to replace."

Gardner was a gifted athlete, it just took a little time for Clemson coaches to find the right position for the 6-4, 220-pounder. After a red-shirt season in 1996 as a quarterback and safety, Head Coach Tommy West moved him to wide receiver. A leaping reception in the endzone from Nealon Green at Wake Forest in 1997 was a foreshadowing of excitement to come.

Gardner probably could have played college basketball, or even baseball. After his selection in the first round of the NFL draft, he was chosen to throw out the first pitch prior to the Clemson vs. South Carolina baseball game in May. He took it seriously, warming up in the bullpen in front of the Clemson pitching staff. He appeared to be humming a fastball near 85 miles per hour.

But, Gardner's most noteworthy accomplishment in 2001 might have been the third spoke in the aforementioned triple...earning his degree. He always had the intelligence, but continuing to be motivated to finish course requirements when you know a $7 million contract is on the horizon takes some intestinal fortitude and self discipline.

Gardner had made a promise to his mother and that was all it took. When he walked across the stage at Littlejohn Coliseum last May 11th, his grin was as wide as the Coliseum. He shared a hug with President Jim Barker (see photo). It was the culmination of a whirlwind six months for Gardner.

"He set the school record for receptions, made All-American, was a first-round draft choice, was a big reason the program returned to the top 15 in the nation, and left with a degree," said Rick Stockstill, who coached Gardner for four years. "He accomplished what all college football players strive for. He has set a standard for Clemson players in the future."

Tim Bourret is in his 13th year as the Clemson Sports Information Director.

Rod Gardner pulled off quite a triple play in 2000-01. He became the first Tiger in 22 years to earn All-America honors, be chosen in the first round of the NFL draft, and earn a degree, all in the same year.

BUILDING FOR THE FUTURE

"Our pre-construction Value Engineering Program saved the University almost $100,000. The superior quality of the finished building speaks for itself."

*R. Lynn Yeargin '76
President*

Located right behind the "ROCK"—from concept to completion, this dramatic 300 student four-story dormitory project is designed to reflect the traditional heritage of Clemson University's growing campus.

YEARGIN'S involvement on campus has allowed us to share with the University our kindred values and attributes—Quality, Pride, Initiative, Integrity, and Excellence—exceeding our clients expectations.

If thinking of a new project, growth or expansion, give us a call. When "building for the future" let YEARGIN'S FULL SERVICE CONSTRUCTION TEAM provide the expertise that brings your concept to reality.
